Senate Kills Civil Rights Amendment

Votes 69-22 To Direct Courts To Set Up Hearings

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate voted 69-22 Friday to direct the courts to specify the times and places for holding federal registration hearings proposed under the civil rights bill.

Offers Compromise

Sen. John A. Carroll (D-Colo.) offered the compromise proposal, which was adopted over Southern opposition.

Civil rights proponents protested that Kefauver's amendment would have undermined the key voting referee plan by opening the way to intimidation of Negroes seeking to register and vote.

Adoption of Carroll's proposal, which was called acceptable to the Eisenhower administration, cleared the last major obstacle to final Senate action on the House-passed civil rights bill.

Retains Provision

Carroll's substitute amendment retained a House provision for uncontested hearings, stipulating only that they be held "at such times and places as the court shall direct."

After disposing of the Carroll amendment, the Senate killed a proposal to give legal status to a 15-member presidential commission to work against racial discrimination in federal contract hiring.

U.S. Education Needs Cited

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Welfare Arthur S. Flemming said Friday the federal government "must assume a larger share of the responsibility" for charting this country's course in education.

He said the White House Conference on Children and Youth was "certainly headed in the right direction" when it suggested tripling the nation's expenditures for education.

Flemming did not commit himself specifically to that amount, however. He said he wanted to study the proposal further.

But he told the closing session of the 1960 conference: "I firmly believe that the time has come for us to obtain agreement on what should be our investment in education as a nation over a period of the next five or ten years."

"There is no doubt in my mind," the secretary added, "that the federal government must assume a larger share of the total responsibility than it is now assuming."

Saying he had been much impressed by the work done by the conference delegates, Flemming declared he was encouraged by their strong stand against racial discrimination in all walks of life.

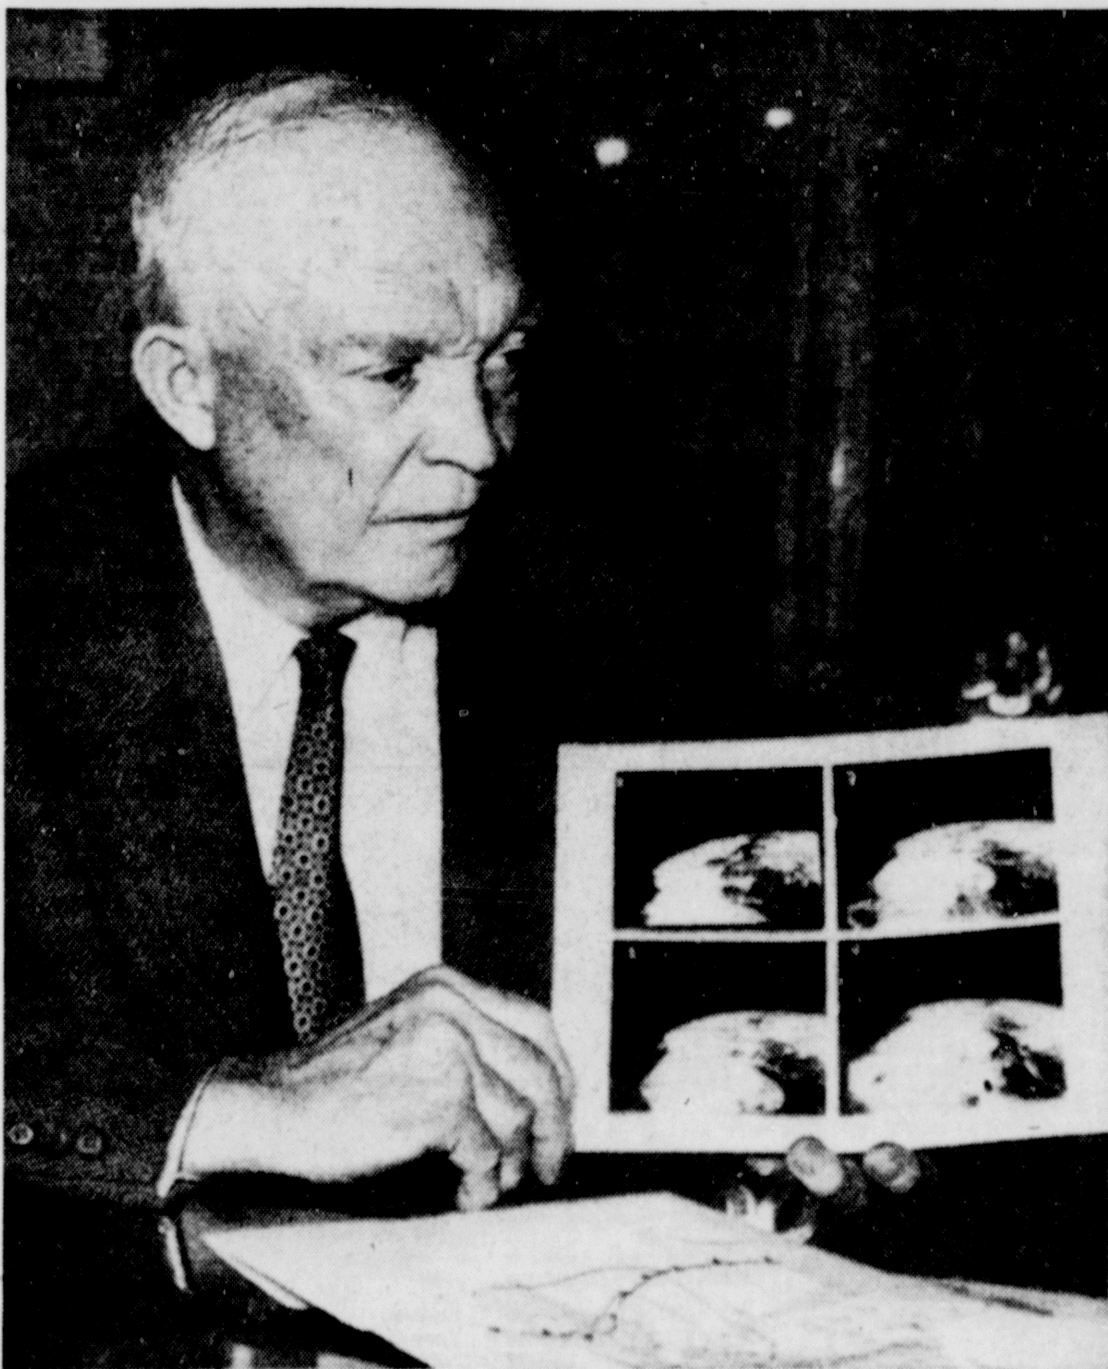

On juvenile delinquency, he agreed the conference was right that more should be invested in finding cause and cure.

Leaders' Wives Tour Historic Chateau

PARIS (AP)—Yvonne de Gaulle and Nina Khrushchev Friday toured the rambling grounds of the historic chateau where their husbands are conferring on world events. The presidential chateau at Rambouillet is also a vast farm, and Mrs. de Gaulle led her guest to such agricultural spots as sheep pens, and the dairy named after Queen Marie Antoinette, who once strolled the same grounds.

Leaders Talk As France Fires Atomic Blast

PARIS (AP) — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev pursued his presumptuous talks with President Charles de Gaulle in an apparently amiable vein Friday while the cloud of France's second atomic explosion dissipated over the Sahara.

Though France ignored warnings from the Soviet leader in touching off a small plutonium bomb Friday morning, she let it be known no further tests are likely until after this summer's big diplomatic meetings.

Weather conditions at the Regency proving ground, deep in Algeria, probably will be unfavorable for the next five months.

France is determined, however, to go ahead with nuclear tests until an international agreement can be reached on nuclear disarmament. In the meantime this newest member of the atomic club, not participating in the Geneva talks for a test ban, wants to swell its power closer to that of the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union.

Protests came in as expected from around the world at the second shot, but there was no public eruption at the turreted Rambouillet chateau where De Gaulle and his Soviet guest were deep in such questions as disarmament, the German problem and coexistence.

The fact Khrushchev did not pack up and head for Moscow appeared significant. Perhaps it shows he intends to let nothing get in the way of the most amiable opening possible for the May 16 summit conference.

The two government chiefs talked for two hours Friday morning, alone except for translators. They lunched together with their aides, then held a session attended by their trade, diplomatic advisers.

Eight-Day Fight For Life Ends, Burned Man Dies

BOSTON (UPI) — An eight-day battle for life ended just before dawn Friday when 20-year-old Philip Demers died of burns after receiving a record 100 pints of blood.

Demers suffered burns over 80 per cent of his body eight days ago when the gasoline tank of an old automobile exploded while he was working on it with an acetylene torch.

His death ended a saga of heroism and sacrifice by friends and relatives, who contributed the blood transfusions, and doctors and nurses who worked around the clock in a valiant bid to save his life.

Icy Flood Waters Rout Thousands

By The Associated Press

Icy flood waters rolled across new territory Friday, spilling over dikes and putting hundreds to flight.

The number of homeless soared to 15,000. A storm pushed into the Midwest flood zone and hindered protection and rescue operations.

Windblown snow swirled in parts of Nebraska, the Dakotas and Minnesota. Rain spread eastward over much of the central section.

The snowfall measured about 6 inches in Detroit Lakes, Minn., and ranged up to 10 inches in South Dakota.

Surging waters forced National Guardsmen to retreat in Iowa and routed hundreds of persons from their homes.

The Red Cross estimated that 14,000 were homeless in eight states—South Dakota, Nebraska, Iowa, Kansas, Missouri, Illinois, Wisconsin and Michigan. At least 1,000 others had to move in West Virginia, Pennsylvania and New York.

The death toll rose to 10—3 in Nebraska, 3 in Missouri, 2 in Illinois, 1 in New York and 1 in South Dakota.

Factories and stores were closed and highways and rail lines were blocked.

The Missouri River went over dikes in southwestern Iowa and National Guardsmen and volunteers pulled back about two miles inland to protect the town of Pacific Junction.

Residents were ordered to evacuate after a dike broke four miles north of Bartlett, Iowa.

The Des Moines River put more than 450 persons out of their homes in northern and eastern sections of Des Moines and a National Guard unit was called out to repair a broken levee.

The Iowa River topped levees north of Marshalltown, Iowa, invaded a residential area and routed more than 250 persons from their homes.

Rain hampered the fight against the flood in Nebraska.

A dike gave way in Hooper, Neb., and waters from the Elk Horn River washed across nine blocks of the town and forced many of the 850 residents to move.

The storied Spoon River poured over a levee at Duncantown, west of Havana, Ill., and a sandbag barrier was reared along U.S. 24.

The Pecatonica River covered the main streets of McConnell and Winslow in northwestern Illinois.

The rising Mississippi prompted farmers to move livestock and equipment to high ground from the Dogtooth Bend area north of Cairo, Ill.

Workmen labored to bolster levees along the North Grand, Missouri and Mississippi rivers in Missouri. The North Grand was out of its bed south of Pattonsburg.

The Burlington Railroad halted service through Canton, Mo., on the Mississippi because of high water.

A number of families left their homes in lowlands along the Shawnee and Grand rivers in Michigan.

Deputy sheriffs used boats and a hay wagon to evacuate 35 persons in Nedrow, south of Syracuse, N.Y.

But floods eased up in the East. All the streams in western Pennsylvania receded and the Ohio crest passed Pittsburgh.

In West Virginia, 400 were homeless in the New Cumberland area and 600 in East Raintelle, where waters of the Meadow River swirled up to the doors of stores in the downtown district.

Crests predicted for the upstream section of the Ohio River, from Wheeling, W.Va., to Greenup, Ky., were revised downward.

The Weather Bureau said most points would experience only low-land flooding.

Plane Crashes Into House, Three Killed

TOKYO (AP) — A twin-engine passenger plane belonging to the newspaper Mainichi crashed Friday and hit a farmhouse in central Japan, killing three of its four occupants. The fourth occupant and three persons in the farmhouse were injured. The plane was en route to take part in formal opening ceremonies of the high school baseball season.

South Africa Urged To Cut Race Policy

UN Council Says Supremacy Laws Cause Bloodshed

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. Security Council Friday called upon South Africa's nationalist government to scrap its strict racial policies in order to live in peace with its millions of Negroes.

By a vote of 9-0 with 2 abstentions the 11-nation council adopted a resolution blaming mass shootings of Negroes and other racial unrest on South Africa's white supremacy laws.

Britain and France abstained. There had been reports both might kill the resolution with a veto.

Bitter Reaction

This would have aroused bitter reaction on the part of many U.N. members, particularly among the Asian-African nations who regarded the resolution as extremely mild.

The British and French delegates explained after the vote that they had reservations on the legal competence of the council to deal with what South Africa regarded as a domestic issue.

The United States and the Soviet Union both endorsed the resolution, presented by Ecuador and worked out in conference with Asian-African nations.

South Africa's delegate Bernardus G. Fourie made known before the vote his government considered the entire three-day council debate illegal. It appeared his government would therefore ignore the resolution.

The resolution deplored the recent violence in South Africa and the actions by its government, which it said "have given rise to the present situation."

It asked Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold to consult with the South African government to see what could be done to carry out provisions of the U.N. charter dealing with racial discrimination. He was asked to report back to the council "whenever necessary and appropriate."

Requests Meeting

Diplomatic sources said Hammarskjold had requested Fourie to meet with him at 11:30 a.m. Saturday.

Ambassador Alex Quaison-Sackey of Ghana, one of the leaders in bringing the charges against South Africa, expressed satisfaction but added he would have liked a stronger resolution.

Another African leader, Cabary of Guinea, said that while the resolution contained positive elements, he would have preferred one calling for economic or diplomatic penalties against South Africa.

U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge told the 11-nation Council the resolution "points a constructive way" for it to proceed.

Bernardus G. Fourie, permanent U.N. representative for South Africa, told the Council he had been instructed by his government to regard "in a serious light" any resolution that might be approved.

He reiterated that his government regards any Council consideration of the violence in South Africa as illegal under provisions of the U.N. charter barring interference into a nation's domestic affairs.

Space Balloon Is Launched

WASHINGTON (AP) — The space agency Friday night launched a 100-foot inflatable sphere visible for hundreds of miles.

The launching, at 6:55 p.m. Eastern Standard Time from Wallops Island, Va., was successful, as paper.

If this sounds gruesome, it doesn't hurt a bit. It's all part of the once-a-decade national census. Everyone winds up as a series of census is kept secret by law, but the White House disclosed the President's report, prepared by an aide.

The White House has 132 rooms, bathtub and flush toilet "for use of this household only," and is equipped with hot and cold running water.

The President pays no rent and reported that, to the best of his knowledge, there are no vacant apartments or vacant rooms for rent in the White House.

Alexis and Burgess stayed with the President about five minutes. The Census Bureau estimates this is about the length of time required at each of the 55 million households being visited by the enumeration army during April.

Two high-ranking enumerators—Census Director Robert H. Burgess and District Supervisor Louis Alexis—showed up at the White House soon after breakfast and

Police Fire On Africans, 3 Die

Armed Negro Crowd Converges On City Jail

DURBAN, South Africa (AP)—Carrying clubs, hatchets, and sharpened pieces of wire, several hundred Negroes converged on the city jail Friday demanding release of their leaders. They argued against an order to disperse and police opened fire. Three marchers were killed and three wounded.

Two others were hospitalized with head wounds. They had not been shot.

Leading opponents of the government's apartheid—racial segregation—policies had been taken to jail in this week's wave of arrests.

Three columns marched out of the native settlement of Cato Manor on the city's outskirts. Armed cars, troop carriers, police riot cars, and soldiers armed with fixed bayonets rushed in and headed off two groups.

Forced To Join

A third column of men, women and children outflanked the police and headed down the main thoroughfare of this Indian Ocean port, South Africa's third city.

Marchers forced members of their own race to join them in the display of defiance to white supremacy laws. Some bystanders were lifted bodily into the line of march and compelled to go on to the jail, where the shooting occurred. After that they fled back to their homes.

Cato Manor has a record of violence including three riots within the past year. In January, a mob killed nine policemen on a raiding party. Just 24 hours ago, police blocked a similar march headed for the Durban jail.

The police acted under the government's new emergency powers, approaching martial law. Under the state of emergency decreed Wednesday, police apparently have felt less constraint in using their weapons. Even in the face of 30,000 Cape Town demonstrators earlier this week, they held their fire.

Head For Resort

Friday about 1,400 marchers headed into Heramus, a coastal resort 50 miles east of Cape Town. The crowd, including some women, was warned to disperse, but refused. Police charged, swinging clubs and rifle butts.

Police on the Cape peninsula took emergency measures to break a crippling work stoppage. Police said citizen arrests could be made of anyone found handing out leaflets urging people to stay away from work, or intimidating workers.

The peninsula has been bearing the brunt of widespread disorder as Negroes attempt to exert an economic boycott and enforce their demands for abolition of the pass system for nonwhites, equal work for equal pay with minimum wages and hours—and possibly political rights. Low-cost African labor is the main support of South Africa's economy.

Jamaica Firemen Strike For More Pay

KINGSTON, Jamaica (AP)—This city of 125,000 is without firefighters. Firemen struck Thursday night, claiming their demands for more pay and improved living conditions have been ignored. One of their complaints is that the station beds are infested with bugs and the dining tables overrun with roaches.

U.S. Proposes Joint Nuclear Tests Resume

GENEVA (AP) — The United States proposed Friday that the first three members of the atomic club resume joint nuclear testing on a limited scale to speed solution of the elusive problem of how to detect underground shots.

The suggestion was made in the nuclear test suspension conference only a few hours after France fired off her second atomic device. It was advanced with British backing as part of the Camp David arrangement worked out earlier this week by President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Harold Macmillan.

The whole Camp David program aims at wrapping up loose ends of the testing problem and achieving prompt conclusion of a treaty banning all detectable atomic and hydrogen weapon explosions and those regarded as hazards to the health of present and future generations.

France is not participating in the Geneva treaty negotiations and has refused to be bound by decisions taken by the three older members of the atomic club—the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union.

The Russians have taken a highly suspicious view of any proposals to resume testing. They agreed only reluctantly to the principle that nuclear explosions for peaceful purposes could be arranged in a treaty suspending weapons tests.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States bolted past a new spacemark Friday by firing the first known weather eye satellite into orbit. It photographed the earth and its cloud cover from 450 miles up and televised back the images.

A triumphant space agency rushed the pictures to President Eisenhower, who exclaimed: "I think it's a marvelous development."

Dr. T. Keith Glennan, chief of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, brought Eisenhower a four-picture sequence showing an 800-mile-square area comprising the Gulf of St. Lawrence. The curvature of the earth was clearly discernible.

Glennan said the pictures were taken when the satellite, named Tiro I, was above a point several miles east of the Atlantic Coast. He said they were made at intervals of about 35 seconds.

Photos Taken At Noon

The sequence was photographed about noon, on the satellite's third orbital swing around the earth and about 5½-hours after it was launched from Cape Canaveral, Fla.

At about the time Glennan was at the White House, the space agency made public pictures showing a cloud mass over a huge area of the northeastern United States and Canada.

NASA said this sequence was taken on Tiro's second pass, about 10:15 a.m.

The White House unveiling and the space agency announcement confirmed earlier indications that Tiro's two cameras had performed as space scientists had hoped.

The scientists had been reluctant to make a flat statement until they could interpret the signals received from the satellite—signals that came across as a series of dots.

Sitting at Eisenhower's side, Glennan said the photographs point to "the sort of thing one would expect to find in the years ahead" in new techniques for forecasting weather.

U.S. space specialists view Tiro I as the possible forerunner of a network of robot space stations designed to flash almost instantaneous reports of weather conditions around the globe.

The Soviet Union is known to be interested in using satellites for long-range weather forecasting, but there has been no sign they have attempted to put anything like Tiro in orbit.

Eisenhower issued a formal statement congratulating Glennan and all concerned who he said "contributed so magnificently to this achievement."

Demo Hopefuls Retrace Trails

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Democratic presidential hopefuls trumpeted new demands on safe old issues in Wisconsin's primary campaign Friday. Both Sens. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts and Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota studiously avoided the religious controversy raised Thursday.

Instead, both retraced old campaign trails in the populous southern part of the state, plumping for medical insurance for the aged and other social advances as they moved into the final days of a strenuous hard-hitting campaign. It ends Tuesday in the first contested presidential primary of 1960.

Humphrey picked industrial Racine to put in another double-barreled pitch for primary votes and medical insurance for the aged under the Social Security system. Kennedy duplicated the performance in a talk prepared for delivery at a reception at Beloit.

Humphrey did tell some Kennedy supporters that Kennedy forces now "are in panic" and buying radio and TV time to step up their drive.

Again a challenge to Kennedy to face-to-face debate on farm, social security and other issues went unanswered. Kennedy says the campaign in general is a debating forum.

U.S. Offers To Open Its Launch Pads

GENEVA (AP) — The United States offered Friday to throw its satellite launching pads open to Soviet inspection provided the Soviet Union returns the favor. The first Soviet reaction was negative.

U. S. Ambassador Frederick M. Eaton made the proposal in an effort to pull the 10-nation disarmament conference out of its three-week-old stalemate.

Eaton called for a permanent ban on nuclear-armed space vehicles and for a simple on-site inspection system to prevent violations. He also suggested an exchange of radar tracking information to supplement control of launching sites.

Soviet delegate Valerian Zorin dismissed the proposal as meaningless and told the conference the Kremlin wants all-or-nothing acceptance of the Soviet four-year plan for total world disarmament.

Eaton said emergency measures are required to save humanity from the threat of space war before it is too late. He warned that development of satellites with nuclear payloads may soon pass the point of no return. Beyond this point, he said, a controlled ban on such weapons may prove virtually impossible because of the number of nations acquiring the necessary techniques.

At present only the United States and the Soviet Union have the means and know-how to launch military vehicles into space. Launching sites are relatively few and controls could be maintained by a few inspectors, Eaton said.

Eaton emphasized the program would in no way disturb national space programs for scientific and other peaceful purposes. Zorin called Eaton's proposal disappointing because it showed the United States opposed a Soviet formula for "general and complete disarmament."

The conference thus remained at a standstill while each side maintained its refusal to accept a rival plan as a basis of discussion.

Council Opposes Discrimination

LANCASTER, Pa. (AP) — The Student Council at the all-male Franklin and Marshall College is on record as opposed to "discriminatory practices in fraternities and organizations."

In a vote unofficially reported as 18 to 8, the Council Thursday night also adopted a resolution favoring any campus movement "whose object is to actively support, demonstrate for and wholeheartedly assist recent 'sit-in' lunch counter incidents in the South, and students who have been expelled as a result of these incidents."

"None has been organized. F. & M. has some 1,300 students, including some Negroes."

Dr. Frederick Bolman, Jr., college president, said the Board of Trustees last June said it opposed "discriminatory practices on the American college campus, and this would include discrimination as it might be involved in the membership of social fraternities."

Beyond that, Dr. Bolman refused to comment.

F. & M. has 11 national fraternities. Kerr didn't identify those that may discriminate by virtue of race, religion or origin.

Motorist Gives Unusual Response To Officer's Query

HAGERSTOWN (AP) — A motorist from St. Louis, Mo., gave an unusual response when asked to show his driving credentials, a Maryland trooper testified Friday.

State Trooper L.C. Clark said Curt L. Hagen, 30, (of 1626 S. Compton St.) refused to produce a license and registration card, then began shadow-boxing in the middle of the street.

Clark said he stopped Hagen for failing to observe a red light.

"I merely intended to give him a warning ticket," the trooper said, adding it took four police to subdue the shadow-boxing Hagen.

Circuit Judge D.K. McLaughlin fined Hagen $10 on the red light charge and sentenced him to 30 days for resisting arrest.

Three Slain By Huks In Philippines

MANILA (UPI) — Outlawed Communist Hukbambas killed three persons Friday, including the aunt and uncle of Cely Carrillo, now starring in New York in the musical comedy "Flower Drum Song."

The vengeance slayings were the first major outbreak of violence in three years by the Communist-led movement which tried to take over the Philippines at the end of World War II and was defeated in savage mountain fighting.

The victims were wealthy landowner Jose Carrillo, an intelligence officer in the 1950 government drive that crushed the Huks, his wife, Carmen, and Miss Mariela Salas, 25, a school teacher.

Police called it Communist revenge against Carrillo's anti-Huk activities.

Carrillo's 19-year-old daughter Zenaida escaped death by pretending she was dead during the attack.

The Philippine constabulary sent four companies of men and teams of fierce police dogs to try to track down the rebel forces believed hiding in the mountains of central Luzon.

In New York, Miss Carrillo said she was "deeply shocked and upset." Jose Carrillo was the youngest brother of her father, the late Lt. Col. Tomas Carrillo, an Army physician.

She said the last time she had seen the Jose Carrillo family was 3½ years ago when she went to the Philippines to give a concert. The actress' mother, Mrs. Carmen Carrillo, teaches Spanish in Nashville, Tenn.

State's Income Tax Receipts Up

BALTIMORE (AP) — State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein predicted Friday the State income tax take for the calendar year 1959 would run about two million dollars over collections for the previous year.

He estimated that corporations and individuals would pay about $101,499,000 compared to $99,700,000 for 1958.

About 500,000 of an estimated 900, have yet to file their State returns and have until midnight April 18 to do so. The extension was granted because April 15 this year falls on Good Friday.

Former FBI Agent Named As Monitor

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An FBI agent who once investigated the activities of James R. Hoffa was named Friday as a member of the three-man board of monitors charged with purging Hoffa's big Teamsters union of corruption.

Hoffa promptly charged that the G-man, 32-year-old Terence F. McShane, could not be impartial. He said McShane would not be able to "leave the FBI and the knowledge he gained there behind him when he's at the monitor's table."

The new monitor was selected by Federal Judge F. Dickinson Letts to represent rank-and-file teamster members on the "watchdog" panel. McShane, who resigned from the FBI Thursday, was sworn into his new post Friday in the judge's nearly empty court room.

At the same time, Letts blocked for the time being at least Hoffa's controversial selection of William A. Bufalino, a Detroit Teamster leader, to be the union's monitor. Bufalino has been a major target of the Senafco Rackets Committee which has accused Hoffa and his union of being gangster-dominated and corrupt.

Asked about McShane's appointment, Hoffa told United Press International the new monitor was a government witness against him at the Teamster chief's two New York wiretapping trials. The first trial resulted in a hung jury. Hoffa was acquitted on the second go-around.

"It doesn't take any imagination to predict what kind of decisions McShane will make concerning Hoffa," the Teamster president said.

He also said it was peculiar for an agent to leave the FBI after nine years of service unless he figured the monitor post would be permanent. Hoffa called for an end to the court-imposed monitoring and an election to name teamster officers.

(Continued from Page 1) called Tiro's launching "the best space news that we have had in a long time."

The 270-pound Tiro's, appearing much like an oversize hatbox, rode into the skies from Cape Canaveral, Fla., at 6:40 a.m. All three stages of its Thor-Able rocket carrier ignited in succession.

The satellite then broke away and went into a circular orbit close to advance calculations.

Within a few hours, scientists at the National Aeronautics and Space Administration unhesitatingly said the satellite had gone into orbit and, on command from ground stations, had started transmitting signals indicating there is "something good there."

But the scientists were reluctant to say immediately that Tiro's two cameras had taken actual still pictures of the earth's cloud cover on its 99.15-minute circuits of the planet.

Some space specialists would say only that they were getting a series of dots that required interpretation.

Will Show Picture

However, Dr. Harry Wexler, chief scientist for the Weather Bureau, told a newsmen at midday he felt signals received will show a picture of the Midwest storm which is on the weather map.

Dr. Abe Silverstein, chief of NASA's space flight projects, said: "We think we are getting signals that indicate pictures of cloud cover."

Tiro's — which takes its name from initials for Television and Infra-Red Observation Satellite—is traveling in an almost perfect circle, the space agency said. Its orbit was calculated to take it as far as 468.28 miles from earth and within 43½ miles at its closest point.

Silverstein said the weather eye satellite should stay in orbit for decades. But its sun-poled radio equipment is expected to function only for about three months.

The top and sides of the 42X19 inch satellite are practically covered by 9,000 solar cells intended to trap the sun's rays and convert them into energy to run batteries of Tiro's three radio transmitters.

He Had Good Reasons For Changing Story

BOSTON (AP) — A woman census taker became alarmed when a man came running down the street after her Friday. His explanation brought a broad smile.

The man said that he had listed his salary $750 below the actual figure while his wife was looking on. He asked the census taker to change it back to the correct amount so he wouldn't get in trouble with the government.

He had been pocketing the $750 for "personal expenses" without his wife's knowledge.

Negro Couple Freed On Bail

FREEHOLD, N. J. (UPI) — Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Pollard, a Negro couple formerly of Charleston, W. Va., accused of kidnapping for taking a five-year-old white girl from her home at nearby Deal, N. J., to Washington, were freed Friday on $1,000 bail each.

The Pollards took Darcy Green, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Burt Green from her home, where they had been baby-sitting last Friday night. They left a note saying they were going to West Virginia to attend a relative's funeral.

FBI agents found the Pollards and Darcy unharmed Saturday at the home of Pollard's aunt in Washington. Pollard explained that he was unable to get a flight to Charleston, W. Va. The relative, an aunt, died at Smithers, W. Va., about 25 miles from Charleston.

In addition to kidnapping, the couple also is charged with larceny when $120 was reported missing from the Green home.

Father Is Held In Baby's Death

SNOW HILL, Md. (AP) — John Edward Simpson, 30, of Berlin was held without bail Friday for the fatal beating of his 22-month-old stepdaughter.

State Police at Salisbury said Simpson, an Ocean Downs Raceway employee, admitted striking the retarded child several times because she was crying.

The little girl, Brenda Sue Caudill, died Wednesday night at the Stockley, Del. Hospital for Mentally Retarded.

Police said the child had been a patient in the hospital for some time before her death and had been released in the custody of her mother, Bonnie Simpson, 18.

Two U.S. Concerns Form Fuel Firm

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Two U.S. concerns have teamed up with a big Italian firm and a South African corporation to manufacture nuclear fuel elements in Italy, it was announced Friday.

Mallinor Chemical Works, and Englehardt Industries, Inc. of Newark, N.J., the two participating American firms, will supply technical assistance and arrange for licensing agreements.

Societa Montecatini, the Italian company, will have a 50 per cent interest in the venture which is to be incorporated as Italatom of Milan.

The fourth participant is Anglo-American Corp. of South Africa.

Says Welcome Warm

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet government newspaper Izvestia reported Friday that Premier Nikita Khrushchev had received a warmer reception in France than did President Eisenhower.

"France received Khrushchev as a friend and has given him such proof of cordiality which no other foreign guest has ever received," Izvestia said.

The newspaper Sovetskaya Rossiya complained indignantly that Western newspapers claimed the French greetings to Khrushchev were organized by the Communist Party.

Butler Cheered In Address At "Convention"

By LOUIS G. PANOS

BALTIMORE (AP) — A cheering Negro audience Friday heard Paul M. Butler declare that the Democratic presidential nominee "must and will be committed to championing the cause of human rights and individual dignity with every ounce of strength."

In the convention balloting for the party's presidential nominee, Sen. Kennedy (D-Mass.) won on the second ballot by a 773-748 margin over Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.).

Butler, Democratic national chairman, delivered the keynote address to about 2,500 attending a mock political convention at Morgan State College, a predominantly Negro institution.

Across the street from the college is the shopping center where Morgan students recently staged Baltimore's first major sit-down protest against lunch counter segregation.

Butler called such protests an "inspiring example of moral courage."

He added they "will long serve to remind some of the rest of us that the spirit of liberty and individual dignity still burns brightly in the minds and hearts of millions of young men and women in this land of the free and the home of the brave."

"Some may say such demonstrations of moral courage are scheduled, the peace," Butler said. "I say that such demonstrations of moral courage should disturb the national consciences — which needs disturbing — and should remind us of the as yet unclosed gap between the American promise and our all-too-frequent performance."

Butler was frequently applauded during the speech, including when he departed from his text to criticize President Eisenhower on the segregation issue.

More than five years have elapsed since the Supreme Court decision on public school desegregation, he said, "and the President of the United States has yet to say he personally believes that this decision was spiritually and morally right."

The President "should provide leadership for the people, to lead them to the acceptance of that decision," Butler said.

"The Democratic party is the party of many candidates, but the Republican candidate is a man of many masks," he told the convention earlier.

"As a result, while the Republican Party knows who its nominee is going to be, the Democratic Party knows what its nominee is going to be and what he is going to stand for."

Unlike the Republicans, he said, it will not be necessary for "us Democrats to create a new image of our nominee and to worry about wiping out the unhappy memory of his blemished past."

"The nominee of the Democratic Party must and will be committed to championing the cause of human rights and individual dignity with every ounce of strength at his command," Butler declared.

Butler was accompanied to the college by Philip B. Perlman, deputy chairman of the Democratic Advisory Council and a veteran of three party platform committees, and David Hume, Maryland Democratic treasurer.

It is said that pretzels were first baked by monks in the Middle Ages.

Pony Express Centennial Rerun To Begin Sunday

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. (AP) — Horsemen carrying Bibles and promising not to swear or drink will begin the centennial rerun Sunday of the famed Pony Express.

The 1,800-mile run with the mail to Sacramento, Calif., began in historic St. Joseph April 3, 1860.

The hardened riders of that day overcame the dangers of highways, Indians, deserts and goopher holes that could break a horse's leg.

The atomic age riders will follow well-marked routes and have a military field kitchen with them to provide meals.

"We'll have the best roasts and steaks," said Lee Shifflett, president of the Mo-Kan Saddle Club. "I don't think we could take the sourdough fare the old riders had to eat."

During a special religious service here Sunday morning each rider will receive a small Bible to carry with him. Each of the men who rode 100 years ago got a similar gift from Alexander Majors, a Methodist lay minister who was one of the three founders of the Pony Express.

The 1960 horsemen will make the same promise that was required of the trailblazers: "I will, under no circumstances, use profane language . . . will drink no intoxicating liquors . . . will not quarrel or fight with any other employee."

In the old days fresh horses were kept at relay stations. Sunday, at the outset at least, 30 horse trailers, each with two animals,

UPI Editors Meet Sunday

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI) — Leo H. Petersen, sports editor of United Press International, will attend the annual spring meeting of the West Virginia UPI Editors Assn. here Sunday.

Petersen will arrive Saturday evening for informal meetings with editors and sports editors of newspapers served by UPI in West Virginia.

Approximately 30 persons are expected to attend the Sunday lunch and meeting at the Charleston Press Club.

Principal items of discussion at the business session will be UPI coverage of the coming primary and general elections, the past Legislature and sports.

Among others attending will be Bernard J. Nilles and Albert Stees, both of Pittsburgh, business manager and news manager respectively of UPI's seven-state Eastern Division.

Election of officers also is scheduled. Current president is W. F. Tolbert of the Williamson Daily News. Other officers are Wesley Scott of the Bluefield Sunset News - Observer and James H. Young of the Parkersburg News, vice presidents, and J. R. Toren of Charleston, UPI West Virginia manager, secretary.

Wife Of WVU Professor Named Mother Of Year

CLARKSBURG, W. Va. (AP) — A Morgantown woman whose family has emphasized education was selected the state's 1960 "Mother of the Year."

Honored was Mrs. Lloyd W. Welden. She is the wife of a West Virginia University professor and mother of six children, all of whom have been graduated or are now attending WVU.

Mrs. Welden is president of the State Woman's Missionary Society.

Friends said that there have been times when Mrs. Welden worked as a sales clerk to help pay the expenses of educating her children.

Nikirk Due For Release April 29

DANBURY, Conn. (AP) — The warden's office of the Danbury Federal Correctional Institution said Friday that a former Frederick County, Md. State's attorney serving a sentence for income tax evasion is due to be released April 29.

The office said that Edwin F. Nikirk, 43, who began serving a one-year term Dec. 1, 1959, had been granted a parole effective May 2.

The release date was advanced to April 29, the prison said, because of Nikirk's "exceptional good performance and behavior."

Nikirk pleaded no contest to charges of evading $10,423 in federal income taxes for the three-year period of 1952-54.

Tawes Warns State To Work For Industries

BALTIMORE (AP) — Gov. Tawes warned Friday night that Marylanders must work together to promote industrial expansion for its growing population or fall by the wayside.

"The competition has become keen among the states of the union to locate new plants and new business within their borders," the governor told the Maryland Utilities Assn. in a prepared address. "To safeguard Maryland's future, we must work together to nurture all of its great assets and resources," Tawes added.

The governor said the state's new Department of Economic Development, which took office Feb. 1, hopes to complement the activities of other private and public agencies now working for industrial expansion.

Tawes noted the state was slow in setting up an industrial development department, being one of the last two or three states to do so.

"The reason for this delay, I think," the governor said, "is the fact that we had been doing so well in this field on our own natural momentum."

"We are living in an era of explosive population growth and swiftly changing and expanding economy," Tawes said. "Maryland is seventh in the nation in population growth, and among East Coast states its growth is exceeded only by Florida and Delaware."

"If present trends continue," he said, "the state, by 1970, will have made large gains in virtually all phases of its economic activity. There will be a corresponding increase in the need for State and local public services and for a tremendous expansion of private investment to provide more jobs and a broader tax base."

Tawes noted "the importance of jobs under such conditions is obvious to all of us."

"This is true," he said, "because the number of employed persons is the basis of the economy, public or private. If public policies are framed with the view of maximizing the number of jobs in the state many of the problems now vexing us will be much simpler to resolve."

Holdup Gets Pair Long Prison Terms

HAGERSTOWN (AP) — A $15 holdup resulted Friday in eight-year prison terms for two Hagerstown teen-agers.

Judge D.K. McLaughlin imposed the sentences on Ronald Lee Struble, 19, and Larry J. Burton, 17. They pleaded guilty to robbing Daniel A. King, a parking lot attendant, of $15.10 at gunpoint last month.

Public Invited To Attend Five Open House Parties

Demonstrations each day and an executive board meeting and program, to which the public is invited, have been planned for the National Home Demonstration Week celebration May 1-7, Miss Mary Wise said last evening.

She stressed the fact that the main objectives are to call attention to home demonstration work to those who are not members of homemakers clubs and in this way reach more people in the community.

All homemakers and guests, not members of clubs, are invited to attend the board meeting, which will be in the form of a luncheon May 4 from 11 a.m. until 2:30 p.m. at the Ali Ghan Country Club. Reservations are to be made by May 2.

Dr. Laura B. Harney, who joined the faculty of Frostburg State Teachers College as assistant librarian in 1953 and later was appointed to the English department, will be the guest speaker. Her topic is "Alaska."

A native of New York State, Dr. Harney lived in the Adirondack Mountains. She was educated in the elementary and high schools there and received her B.S., M.A., and Ed.D. degrees from New York University. She also holds a bachelor of science in librarianship from Albany State University, and doctor of arts, oratory from Staley College, Brookline, Mass. Dr. Harney has taught in all grades in elementary and high schools and on the college level. Before resigning to take positions abroad, Dr. Harney was principal of Mt. Vernon Elementary School.

In 1946-48 Dr. Harney was associated with the United States Government in Germany as an educational specialist, conferring with teachers, organizing textbook curriculum centers, visiting schools and lecturing.

Upon her return she was offered a position in the American school in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, where she taught English, history, social studies and mathematics in the 12th grade. In 1952 she was appointed librarian at Karachi, Pakistan, and taught English and lectured. Dr. Harney also has conducted a gift shop at Old Forge, New York, and traveled through the United States, Alaska and Canada.

A surprise program also has been planned. Demonstration days will be held throughout the county in conjunction with informal "open house" parties.

May 2 there will be open house at LaVale fire hall, from 1 until 3 o'clock with LaVale and Valley Road clubs as hostesses. Demonstrations will be given by LaVale, Happy Valley and Midlothian clubs.

Frostburg and Shaft will be hostesses May 3 at Frostburg, from 1 until 3, while demonstrations will be by Frostburg, Lonaconing and Mapleside clubs.

May 5 the open house will be at United Brethren Church, Race Street, from 1 until 3 with Mapleside club hostess, and demonstrations by Bowling Green, Mapleside and North Cumberland clubs.

Also on May 5 an open house will be held at 7:30 p.m. in Flintstone School, with Flintstone and Twigg town clubs as hostesses; and demonstrations by Twigg town, Union Grove and Bedford Road clubs.

The final observance will be May 6 at the Presbyterian Church, Piedmont, from 1 until 3, with Westport and McCoole clubs hostesses. The demonstrations will be given by Lonaconing Women's, Bedford Road and Cresap Homemakers clubs.

Everyone is invited to attend as many of the gatherings as possible, Miss Wise said.

Cumberland Valley PTA, Centerville, will hold a bazaar April 8 at 7 p.m. at the school.

Short Gap PTA will hold a bake sale today from 2 until 5 at the Floyd Umstot Grocery Store, Short Gap.

Beauty Bank Burglarized

The headline, BEAUTY BANK BURGLARIZED, would fit many a female you see who employs "over make-up" of the eyes which has come into predominance with the "ultra-everything" styles coming out of Paris in recent months.

Well, regardless of what sensational-minded Frenchmen say, any woman who makes up her eyes to look like two gaping holes in her head has hobbled her beauty bank of one of its most valuable assets.

A woman's eyes are the most striking and expressive feature of her face. How could any woman be so mistaken as to want to

4-H'ers Will Enroll For Contest

Approximately seven Older 4-H'ers have entered the annual public speaking contest. Miss Nancy Marsteller said last evening. Entries must be made at the extension office by April 8.

The contest will be held in conjunction with the leaders banquet April 22 at 6:30 in the Bedford Road fire hall. The subject is "How May 4-H Work Be of Better Service to My Community."

To be eligible, a contestant must be 14 and not over 21; must have been enrolled in 4-H club work for three years; enrolled in the public speaking project and submit project record sheets to the judges at the county, district and state contest. Each talk is limited to five minutes.

Judging will be based on the naturalness of delivery, interest held, information given and manner of presentation.

The final meeting of the study course at Grace Methodist Church will be held at 7 p.m. tomorrow.

AAUW's Annual Party To Be Held April 10

Cumberland Chapter, American Association of University Women will entertain the husbands and guests of members at the annual covered dish dinner April 10.

Mrs. John G. Thomas will preside at the dinner meeting at the Woman's Civic Club house at 6 p.m.

Edward Skurzynski, group supervisor in the rocket development department of Allegheny Ballistics Laboratory, will be the guest speaker. Mr. Skurzynski will discuss "Rocketry."

During the business session there is to be a short discussion on the state convention, which will be held in Salisbury, April 29-30; the annual art exhibit sponsored by the AAUW at the public library; "College Night" program later in the month and the final luncheon meeting at the Cumberland Country Club concluding activities before the summer recess.

The committee in charge of arrangements for the party includes Mrs. Arlene Russell, Mrs. Alice Maguire, Mrs. J. Goodloe Jackson, Mrs. E. E. Miller, Mrs. Joseph Miller, Mrs. W. E. Johns, Mrs. Madelyn L. Meyshaw and Miss Kathryn E. Laughlin.

To Participate In Convention

A group from Iota Epsilon Chapter of Tau Phi Lambda of the Supreme Forest Woodmen Circle will attend the district convention in Grafton, W. Va., tomorrow. It will be conducted in the Catholic Social Center, beginning with a luncheon at noon.

Judge Sloan To Mark Birthday

Former Judge D. Lindley Sloan, The Dingle, will observe his 88th birthday tomorrow. There will be no formal celebration, but his former office staff generally visit him for an informal get-together.

The son of the late James M. and Ella Frederick Sloan, Judge Sloan was born in Pekin April 3, 1874 and spent his early life in Lonaconing, attending public schools. He graduated from Washington and Jefferson College in 1892 and read law in the offices of his cousin, Judge David W. Sloan. He was admitted to the Allegheny County Bar in 1895.

Judge Sloan was city attorney for Cumberland for four years and for three years was legal advisor for the Board of Allegheny County Commissioners. He was president of the Dime Savings Bank from its organization until its absorption by the Liberty Trust Company in 1920.

Judge Sloan was appointed chief judge of the Maryland Court of Appeals January 27, 1943 by then Governor Herbert R. O'Connor. He served the Court of Appeals for 18 years prior to his election as chief judge of the Fourth Judicial Circuit in 1926. When his 15-year term expired in 1941, Governor O'Connor appointed Judge Sloan to serve until the election in 1942, when he was unopposed. He retired at 70.

Sport Club Anniversary To Be Apr. 9

The 25th anniversary of the Women's Sport Club will be celebrated at its monthly dinner meeting, which will be held April 9 at the Ali Ghan Country Club, beginning at 6:30.

Former members are invited to attend. Charter members will be honor guests. There also will be a guest speaker.

Reservations are to be made with any member of the committee of arrangements by Tuesday.

Mrs. Mary Ellen Serf is chairman for the celebration. She is being assisted by Mrs. Eleanor Lavin, Mrs. Veronica Schleidman and Mrs. Mildred George.

Personals

Mrs. John Kienhofer is recuperating at her home, 714 Columbia Avenue, after being treated at a hospital following an automobile accident Sunday.

Ernest C. Slonaker, Jane Frazier Village, is a surgical patient in Memorial Hospital.

Auxiliary To Meet

Auxiliary 281, Order of the Ladies of United Commercial Travelers, will hold its monthly business session this evening at the Girl Scout house.

Jean Green Elected Head Of BSP City Council

Beta Sigma Phi City Council elected Mrs. Jean Green president at the meeting held Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Dolly Green. Plans were formulated for the ritual dinner and reports were given.

The "Order of the Rose" will be bestowed upon 12 members at the Ritual of Jewels dinner, which is to be held April 28 at the Ali Ghan Country Club at 6:30. This is the first time the order will be bestowed in Cumberland. Eligible members are Mrs. Alpha Barb, Miss Ruth Barry, Mrs. LaVerne Hankins, Miss Betty Rommelmyer, Miss Helene Schutz, Miss Margaret Lester, Miss Dorothy Campbell, Mrs. Eleanor Albright, Mrs. Ann McKenzie, Mrs. Jean Rice, Mrs. Elizabeth Chaney and Miss Mildred Blades.

It was reported by Miss Martha Lee Heron that $152.10 was made at the recent card party held in Emmanuel Episcopal parish house for the benefit of Friends Awar.

A report on the "Cruise Ball" was given by Mrs. Betty Barnes, chairman. "Holland" will be the theme of the decorations for the dance, which will be held May 7 at the Cumberland Country Club.

It was decided that the "Girl of the Year" will not be observed city-wide, but each chapter will honor its own member.

Thank-you notes were read from Mrs. Jean Green and Mrs. Josephine Pfeiffer, who are convalescing from illness.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Betty Barnes, 1514 Frederick Street, April 21.

Members present were Mrs. Frances Frank, Mrs. Dortha Hare, Mrs. Eva Slivak, Mrs. Betty Frank, Mrs. Genevieve Twigg, Mrs. Betty Reed, Mrs. Elizabeth Drew, Mrs. Lois Nickle, Mrs. Kathryn Koon, Mrs. Katherine Samson, Mrs. Imogene Hixon and Miss Schutz.

Dance Tonight

The Cumberland Elks will open its spring season with an informal dance tonight in the cotillion room, with music by Fred Lock and his Dudes, beginning at 9:30.

Next week, Paul G. Stakem and his staff of officers will be honored at a dance, with Russ Romero and his orchestra playing from 10 until 1. A cocktail party will be held at 9.

Harry Tracy is chairman of arrangements for both, assisted by Harry Cole, William Lewis, Walter Beeche, George Zegles and Harry Thomas.

CS Group Will Hear Easter Talk

The Community Service Group of the Woman's Civic Club will have Rev. H. M. Richardson, rector of Emmanuel Episcopal Church, as guest speaker for the monthly luncheon meeting April 7. It will be held at 12:30 in the club house.

Rev. Richardson is to speak on "The Easter Theme."

A business session will be conducted by Mrs. Edgar A. Kendall, at which time a date will be set and plans will be formulated for a "Smorgasbord Sunday Night Supper". It is to be held in May and will be held instead of the annual spring dance or card party for the benefit of the group's nurses scholarship fund.

The hostess for the luncheon is Mrs. Z. F. Zimowski. Her committee consists of Mrs. Edward Solomon, Mrs. James Hallinan and Mrs. Norbert B. O'Donnell.

Building A New Life

Quite a thrill — building a new home! Day by day you watch it take shape. And somehow, you have the feeling that this new house will bring new life for you and your family.

But building a new life isn't as simple as building a new home. One just can't move out of the drab past into a sparkling future.

The life to which conscientious men and women aspire is built on foundations that cannot be laid in a week or two. Character, courage, consecration — these are concrete evidences of faithful years in the worship and service of God.

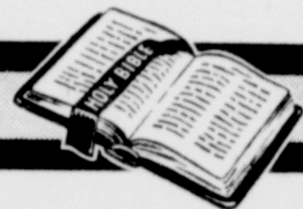

Today, where there are new houses there are new churches — and where there are old houses there are old churches. And through the portals of all the churches pass the millions of earnest families who are serious and happy about building a new life.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Four Pulp, Paper Mill Workers Retire

Four employees of West Virginia Pulp and Paper's Luke mill pose for a retirement picture as they are about to end their service with the company. Retiring April 1 are (left to right): Antonio Riolo, a native of Italy who started at the Luke mill in May, 1922, as a construction laborer and upon retirement was working in the finishing department cutter room; Julius Di-Gioia, also a native of Italy, who was employed in September, 1919, in the pulp screen room and retired as a screen room operator in the pulp mill; John M. Cutter, a native of Lonaconing, employed in January, 1923, in the boiler house and retired as a repairman in the same location; and Harry S. Fazenbaker, a native of Aaron Run, Garrett County, who started in August, 1933, in the wood yard and was a repairman in the boiler house upon retirement. Not present when this photo was taken were H. Glenn Boyd, who started as a clerk in the main office in July, 1916, and was a pulp wood accountant upon retirement; and Edward J. Morgan, who was employed in May, 1927, as a wood yard laborer and retired as a journeyman millwright.

Frostburg Easter Service Is Announced

Ministerium Is Sponsor

FROSTBURG — The Frostburg Ministerium has announced the program for Good Friday in Holy Week.

The service will be held at the First Methodist Church beginning at noon and concluding at 3 p.m. Frostburg businesses are cooperating by closing their stores during those hours in order to give their employees a chance to attend.

Pastors taking part and the words of Christ upon which they will speak are: Rev. E. M. Goetchius, pastor of First Presbyterian, "Forgiveness"; Rev. George Bell, pastor of Wesley Methodist Church, "Pardon"; Rev. Paul V. Taylor, pastor of Zion United Church of Christ, "Love"; Rev. William Price, pastor of First Congregational United Church of Christ, "Loneliness"; Rev. H. Martin P. Davidson, pastor of St. John's Episcopal Church, "Human Need"; Mr. Kenneth Morelock, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, "Triumph" and Rev. Ralph A. Mickle, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene, "Reunion."

Between the addresses by the various ministers there will be vocal and musical numbers and quiet periods for meditation.

The community Easter Sunrise Service will be held beginning at 6 a.m. Easter morning in Compton auditorium of Frostburg State Teachers College. Rev. E. M. Goetchius will deliver the message, and special music will be given by an adult community choir made up of members of all church choirs throughout the city.

A rehearsal will be held this Sunday at 2 p.m. in St. Paul's Lutheran Church. The invitation has been extended to any adult of the community, whether a member of a church choir or not, who would like to sing to attend the rehearsal.

vises the operation and maintenance of a water system and water plant, construction and operation of a sanitary sewerage system, installation and maintenance of fire plugs and the operation and maintenance of the above plants and systems.

Police Commissioner

The police commissioner and his department is charged with abating and removing all nuisances, carrying out and enforcing all the sanitary ordinances and regulations of the city, and preserving peace and order in the city. He shall see that his police force suppresses within the city all vice, gambling and games of chance; checks that there is no disorder, disturbances, annoyances, disorderly conduct or drunkenness. During late years much of the policeman's time is taken up with directing traffic and checking parking meters. It is the commissioner's job to see that his men are trained and qualified for these positions.

Incumbent Candidates

Candidates for the five city positions are:

Joseph James, unopposed for mayor. He has been elected to two previous terms, is married and the father of three children and is employed at the Allegany Ballistics Laboratory in a supervisory position.

Herbert Loar, incumbent finance commissioner, is a former state and county tax collector. He owns and operates a market on

Church Bus Running Again

LONA CONING — Pastor Bennett Arthur of Word Tabernacle Pentecostal Holiness Church announces that the church bus began operation again last Sunday after being repaired. All persons who formerly rode the bus and any other who would care to ride are reminded the bus is in Barton at 9:15 a.m. on Sunday morning and from there through Moscow and Pekin arriving at the church at approximately 9:30 a.m.

The bus will then make its regular run through Charlestown at approximately 9:40 a.m. The return run will be made after the morning worship service and Sunday School at approximately 11:30 a.m.

Pony League Organizes Today

WESTERNPORT — Boys between the ages of 13 and 15 years wishing to play in the Pony League baseball in Westernport, Franklin and Luke area, are requested to meet at the ball park on Maryland Avenue, today at 10 a.m.

West Main Street, has had 25 years' banking experience and has been a director of the Equitable Savings and Loan Society for 26 years. He is married and has two daughters. He is now completing his second term of office.

William Preston, incumbent street commissioner, is seeking his second term having been appointed to his first position on the council. He was high man in the last election. He is employed as a salesman for mechanics tools, is married and has one child.

James P. Kenney, incumbent water commissioner, has served two years in his present position. He is employed at the Allegany Ballistics Laboratory and was a former water superintendent for Frostburg. He is married and is the father of six children.

Challenging Candidates

Kenneth A. Lowery is making his second attempt to be elected to the council. He has been employed at the Celanese plant for the past 30 years, is married and has four children.

William A. Shuck is making his first try for public office. He is a former bus driver, operated a music and sport shop and is currently managing the Majestic Sport Center. He also drives a school bus. He has been active in veterans organizations and other civic bodies, is married and has a foster daughter.

Mrs. Rachel P. Muir, the only woman to file in this election, has been employed at the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company for the past 20 years and served on the executive board of the Rubber Workers Union for the past seven years. She is a widow and has a son.

Charles P. Rafferty is making his sixth attempt to be elected to the Frostburg council. He is employed at the Kelly-Springfield Tire Plant, is married and the father of seven children. One son lost his life in action in the Korean Conflict.

Big Business

The value of the city, the management to which the candidates aspire, had total assets of $954,211.39 at the end of the last fiscal year; a long term indebtedness of $241,000; total expenditures for the year of $215,871.25; a taxable basis of $9,157,053 and a tax rate of $1.25 which produced $114,463.16 in taxes. There is an average of 44 employees on the city payroll.

All voters of Frostburg have been urged to vote on Tuesday at one of three polling places in which they are registered.

Chick Lang Gets Post At Pimlico

BALTIMORE (AP) — Chick
Lang, who quit as agent for Jack-ey Bill Hartack earlier this week, was named assistant racing director for Pimlico Friday.

Executive Director Louis Pond-
field of the Maryland Jockey
Club, operator of Pimlico, said
Lang would report next week to help with arrangements for the spring meeting beginning May 6.

Lang whose father rode Reich-
Count to victory in the 1928 Kentucky Derby, quit Hartack last Tuesday claiming the jockey was too bitter against racing and the people in it.

He will be coming back to the track where his grandfather trained horses at the venerable Baltimore track near the turn of the century.

Lang's position is a new one with the jockey club. It effects no present assignments.

Mr. K Strikes The Chord Of Tradition

Scaring the French people with the bogey of a revived German militarism was Khrushchev's main task on his visit to France. Old wounds are thin-skinned enough and Franco-German friendship of such recent origin as to have made this undertaking, in Khrushchev's view, admirably worthwhile.

The seductive suggestion that Russia would make a safer treaty friend than Germany is, as far as the French Communists are concerned, preaching to the converted, but to others who still have nagging suspicions about Germany it may sound attractive.

Khrushchev's appeal was not so crude and obvious as it might have appeared to outsiders. It struck traditional chords.

Bismarck knew that if Germany were isolated in the heart of Europe, without strong friends, tragedy would be inevitable. Hence he labored to maintain interlocking treaties that preserved peace. Kaiser Wilhelm dismissed Bismarck and as a result of diplomatic folly soon severed the line between Berlin and St. Petersburg.

The result was the friendship between France and Russia which for more than two generations conditioned French defensive thinking. It was to this tradition that Khrushchev made his appeal.

More than this, France has been the most restive member of NATO. Premier de Gaulle is motivated by the ambition to restore French grandeur and greatness with a proud, decisive voice in the councils of the great powers. The French soul shall be strong and shining, respected in the world.

Hence the independence of the French Mediterranean fleet of NATO direction, and hence the departure of U. S. bombers from French bases.

By appealing to this touchy temperament, Khrushchev also sought to strike a blow at NATO unity.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Stu Symington

The declaration by Senator Stuart Symington that he is a candidate for the Democratic nomination for President surprised no one. Symington has been a candidate, lo! these many years and a very active one. His future depends upon the influence and power of former President Harry Truman, which has been growing steadily in the Democratic Party.

It is now obvious, by mathematical as well as political calculations, that Senator John Kennedy must be nominated on the first or second ballot or he will not be nominated at all for President. What that means in political terms is that if Kennedy does not reach nomination by the second ballot, his pledged votes will dissipate. This is always a peril to the candidate way out in front. From now to Convention time, it is Kennedy's task to arrange to hold his delegations up to at least the fourth ballot. This politically is a formidable task.

Senator Stuart Symington of Missouri steps into the race as a middle-of-the-road compromise candidate. Senator Hubert Humphrey must, at this moment, be regarded as having passed his peak. The Democratic Party is not apparently in a mood for A.D.A. radicals. Hubert Humphrey has chosen that position; he need not have done that. He is too intelligent a man to accept the sociological poppycock represented by the A.D.A. But he made his choice and he is stuck with it. Politics can be unmerciful.

Stuart Symington is a handsome, affable personality. He has been successful in business. He entered public life on the administrative side. He was Secretary of the Air Force in the Truman Administration. In the Senate, he has been one of the outstanding experts on military affairs. He has a black mark on his record in his relations with Senator Joe McCarthy, but that will not cost him any votes because the McCarthyites would not vote for him anyhow.

Symington's attitude toward Soviet Russia is sound and realistic. He is not likely to be tricked by a slight Russian smirk, to say nothing of a smile. He would not be influenced even slightly by Park Avenue intellectualism, the disease from which Adlai Stevenson suffers.

(For those who do not know, Park Avenue intellectualism is the substitution of conversation for knowledge, of loose theories for expertness. In fact, the Park Avenue intellectual regards the expert as a bore and any reference to history or fact as a vulgarity.)

My earlier reference to Harry Truman means more than appears on the surface. What has happened to Herbert Hoover also happened to Harry Truman. Many who believed that Harry Truman was callow in the Presidency have come to respect him since he left that office. His judgment has been sounder, less compromising. He has not been surrounded by those who "made him." He has not only applied his self-pronounced common sense to public problems but, even more, he has displayed considerable evidence of precise knowledge and sound judgment.

Whereas Adlai Stevenson, because he is the most recently defeated Democratic Presidential candidate, has the right to assert himself as the nominal leader of the Democratic Party, the tendency among an increasing number of Democrats is to prefer Harry Truman who possesses greater qualities of leadership.

At any rate, in the struggle between Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt and Carmine DeSapio for control of the enervated New York delegation to the Democratic Convention, Harry Truman is becoming the principal factor in New York State politics. Whenever he comes to New York, he is treated as though he were a visiting potentate and when he takes his morning walk, newspapermen and others join him until it looks like a miniature parade.

In the smoke-filled room where the Democratic candidate will finally be chosen, Harry Truman's voice will be determining. He is likely to favor Stuart Symington or Lyndon Johnson. This will not be based on personal emotionalism but upon Harry Truman's judgment as to which of these two can most surely defeat Richard Nixon. His opposition to Nixon is not only personal; it is ideological. Truman hates the Republican Party. He will never forgive references to the Democratic Party as the Party of Treason or to himself as soft on Communists. He is a formidable enemy and whoever ignores him does so at his peril. Thus the Symington candidacy takes on great significance.

Wisconsin Primary And The 'Catholic Issue'

By Joseph Alsop

EAU CLAIRE, Wis. In a mild grey drizzle, Sen. John F. Kennedy shook hands for votes at the gate of the United States Rubber Company here.

The hurrying workers poured out of the big, bleak factory. The tall senator tirelessly flashed his self-deprecating smile. Young Teddy Kennedy, a fine figure of a circus-barker, shouted "Shake hands with the Senator, shake hands with the Senator" to these people who mainly wanted to get home to their suppers. Altogether, they added up to a pretty bizarre scene, especially when you remembered the prize Kennedy was seeking.

The scene was played at the close of a dawn-to-dusk day of campaigning right through western Wisconsin. The day took Kennedy from New Richmond on the Minnesota border, down through a long string of little country towns, to this small industrial city. The day's events ranged from a crowded enthusiastic luncheon meeting in the basement of a Methodist church to a street corner speech delivered from the roof of an automobile.

Judging from the crowds and their response to Kennedy, this was a decidedly successful day. By practical political standards, moreover, this day's work by Kennedy had a special interest of its own, because of its locale.

Most of the time was spent in Wisconsin's Ninth Congressional District. This is one of the Minnesota-oriented, predominantly Protestant, predominantly farming district that Kennedy at first almost conceded to Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota. Yet here was Kennedy, campaigning hard in the Ninth in the belief that he now has about an even chance to carry this district. A belief seemingly confirmed by the public opinion polls.

Watching TV Sometimes Can Be Dangerous

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

A person who sits for hours quietly in front of his television set runs the risk of developing swelling of the ankles, blood clots in the legs, or pain in the neck or tail bone. Those with heart trouble may develop chest pain, especially when the program is exciting.

These hazards are avoided by standing up from time to time and walking to the other end of the room to stretch the legs and stir up the circulation. Remove tight girdles and binding clothes before settling down to a long program.

Our English colleagues report in one London heart clinic, television is the No. 1 cause of emotionally provoked chest pain.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

A New York publisher was entertaining for luncheon a very snobbish Boston dowager who had gone to college years earlier with his wife.

"You New York people," she complained, "make friends of the weirdest people. The old standards seem to mean nothing to you any longer."

Just then a man came shambling down Madison Avenue, with his white hair waving in the wind, a banjo tucked under his arm, and a sheaf of paper bulging from his pocket. "Look at that fellow, for example," sniffed the Bostonian. "I'll bet you know him, too."

"Indeed I do," said the publisher heartily. "I'd like to introduce you to Mr. Carl Sandburg."

Bob Campbell defines a disk jockey as a radio bigshot who is paid a princely wage to sit before a microphone, separate good records from bad ones and then play the bad ones.

Air Force Is Selling Old Bombers To Castro Agents At Low Prices

By Jack Anderson

the guard with homemade bombs.

Smuggled Ammunition

How these planes slipped into Castro's clutches under the noses of the authorities is a mystery, since arms sales to Cuba supposedly have been illegal for three years.

Other arms shipments, destined for Cuba, have been intercepted by American authorities. The bootleg ammunition bore labels from the Tamiari Gun Shop, Miami; National Gun Traders, Miami; and Hunters Lodge, Alexandria, Va.

Roy Katon, owner of the Tamiari Gun Shop, admitted to this column that he had been aken to Cuba last year by Carlos Martinez and Tony Cuesta to discuss arms purchases. Katon firmly denied, however, that he had sold arms to the Cubans.

Martinez, who works for Miami's Eagle Docks, denied that he had ever met Katon. However, Martinez admitted making several trips last year to Cuba where he did business with Cuesta.

Spokesmen for both National Gun Traders and Hunters Lodge denied selling arms to Castro agents. They suggested that the arms must have been delivered to the Castro underground by middlemen.

The big fear is that the smuggled arms may be used against American citizens, perhaps even to attack the U.S. naval base at Guantanamo. For Castro's purple oratory has charged the atmosphere in Havana with anti-American passion. American citizens are harassed; American holdings are being squeezed out of existence; the Guantanamo base is on wartime alert.

More ominous, Soviet submarines have been spotted in Orange Bay, an obscure deep-water harbor on the northern coast of Oriente Province. Russian anti-aircraft rockets have been delivered to Cuba as part of the arms-for-sugar deal. Rockets with a longer reach could be next.

In less than 15 months, Castro has transformed Cuba from a pet cat snuggled at our foot to a wildcat clawing at our underbelly.

Ike's Nephew In Jam

Caught with a glove compartment full of traffic tickets, the President's nephew Mike Gill tossed uncle Ike's name around the other day to escape being booked.

He was ticketed for parking in an alley near the Republican National Committee. When his glove compartment yielded 14 other tickets just like it, he was firmly escorted to the Third Precinct station whose jurisdiction includes the White House.

As Gill was about to be booked, he mentioned his uncle Ike and demanded to speak to someone in authority. The desk sergeant was sufficiently impressed to put a call through to Deputy Chief Howard Covell who refused to give the tickets but agreed to let Gill go upon his promise to pay later.

The irrepressible Mike used his White House connections last year to get a low license number befitting his family status. He paid for tag No. 635, however, with a check that bounced, according to the police, but he made it good.

Note: Mike's brother Richard, was ushered out of West Point in 1953 after a cadet court found him guilty of cheating in a Spanish exam. A faculty board, possibly more sophisticated about Gill's White House ties, overruled the cadets. Rather than submit to the "silent treatment" from his fellow cadets, however, Gill chose to resign. The Gill brothers are sons of Mamie's sister, "Mike" Moore.

Behind The Headlines

Martin O'Donoghue, chief watchdog over the Teamsters Union, wants the court to appoint attorney Raymond Handel as a fellow watchdog. The teamsters will complain to the court that Handel would be a stooge for O'Donoghue who got him out of the army last year. O'Donoghue asked for Handel's release to help clean up the teamsters, got him into civilian clothes within 10 days.

Republican Congressmen from Michigan marched down to the Post Office Department the other day to demand that Postmaster General Art Summerfield stop holding up their postmaster appointments. Summerfield has issued orders that no postmaster could be appointed any place in Michigan without his personal approval. By holding up key appointments he hoped to high-pressure GOP county chairmen to follow his orders in selecting delegates to the Republican convention. . . . The Michigan Congressmen made such a protest, however, that Summerfield meekly reversed himself.

Doubtful Optimism

By Leslie Gould

Doubtful optimism has replaced the massive optimism of three months ago—as to both the stock market and business for the balance of this year and for 1961.

The stock market's reaction is mainly responsible for the more restrained views.

A correction in the market was overdue, but the suddenness of the decline and its extent have raised the question as to where the stimulus for an extension of the boom is to come from—other than just expansion of production.

For one thing, the inventory build up, after the depletion of these stocks during the steel strike, has been quicker than expected. Steel production is now below 90 per cent of capacity.

Also, the price spiral for the moment—at least—seems to have been checked. It is doubtful now that steel prices will be raised as was so freely predicted a couple of months ago. If they are the increases will be moderate. The same for other prices. Thus this incentive for inventory build up beyond normal demand for goods is absent. So, less steam will be generated from this quarter.

Capital spending by business this year is placed at $37 billion—a high figure—but some of the pressure for this is reduced by the doubts raised by the stock market drop.

Also, business has found that productivity actually has, increased at a faster pace than earlier indicated. The Federal Reserve Board in its recent revision of the industrial production index found it had failed to properly measure the rise in productivity.

Productive capacity is now more than ample to meet present civilian demand. Plant is adequate. There is still a need for equipment modernization.

Research and development of new products will create some demand for new plant and equipment, but the big post war push for more and more capacity has caught up with the pent up civilian shortages.

The present disarmament talks—which may achieve, for the first time, some success—raise some doubts about military spending at its past rate.

Some of this will be met by pressure for expanded spending on schools, highways and other public works. The highway and schools systems are far from adequate.

Money has definitely eased, and while this reflects the slower business and inventory build-up, it can have a beneficial effect in boosting home building. Home building has been slipping off, and one of the 1960 doubts was on this. Mortgage money is much easier and this should reverse the home building trend.

The real doubts are to the stock market. Even the Dow theorists haven't that answer. It will be selective—both on the selling and buying side. This is a good time to switch from doubtful situations into some of the oversold ones.

(Note to editors—Drew Pearson's column for today is written by his associate, Jack Anderson.)

WASHINGTON — Fidel Castro, the bewhiskered Cuban conquistador, has established an underground in the United States that is smuggling weapons to Cuba in defiance of the arms boycott.

Castro agents have actually purchased B-25's and B-26's from the Air Force at Tucson, Ariz., for as little as $6,000 apiece, and have flown them secretly to Aeroport Santa Julia in Pinar del Rio Province.

The Air Force acknowledges that it has sold 100 of these bombers, all certified as airworthy; in the past few months. They were sold cheap because spare parts cannot be found for them. The Air Force has no knowledge whether some purchasers were front men for Castro.

Another 53 obsolete bombers will be sold this month, then 85 more in May and June. As a result of this column's interest, an Air Force spokesman promised that the purchases will be screened more carefully.

Meanwhile nine remodeled Air Force Fighters, painted with Cuban markings, are brazenly guarded by two Castro soldiers at the far end of Miami's International Airport. Two other planes were wrecked by anti-Castro Cubans who slipped past Catholics, and Michigan, with 24 per cent. But on balance, the Wisconsin situation pretty well typifies the situation in the big, key states where the Catholic vote is the most important swing vote.

In these states, the Catholic vote is the most important swing vote precisely because Catholic voters, once rather solidly Democratic, have been drifting more and more into the Republican Party in recent years. In New York, for instance, the wisest politicians and pollsters believe that in the Catholic families that supported Alfred E. Smith, about half the present-day voters plumped for Dwight D. Eisenhower in 1952 and 1956.

In New York, therefore a Catholic Democratic Presidential nominee who could tempt 450,000 of these newly Republican Catholics back into the Democratic Party, while losing only 50,000 normally Democratic Protestant votes, would impose a special handicap of no less than 400,000 votes on his Republican rival. It would not be an insurmountable handicap, since President Eisenhower carried New York by a million and a half votes. But it would be a very heavy handicap.

This in fact explains why the New York delegates are tending towards Kennedy.

This tendency in New York and elsewhere will be powerfully stimulated if Kennedy wins by a good majority in Wisconsin. No one can complain, either, if part of the reason for a strong party Wisconsin swing to Kennedy is a reassessment of what is called "the Catholic issue." Catholic voters cannot be blamed for resenting the unwritten rule excluding Catholics from the highest office. At least until the silly rule has been decisively broken.

CONCEPTION AT 42

Mrs. R. writes: What are the chances of giving birth to a normal child if pregnancy occurs at age 42?

REPLY

The chances are not quite as good as at the age 22 but the increased hazard is too insignificant to deter you from motherhood at this age.

HALITOSIS

H. W. writes: What are the causes of bad breath other than dental and sinus problems?

REPLY

Among other causes are indigestion, the consumption of highly spiced food such as onions, and smoking. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on foul breath.

NEED FOR HUMIDITY

B. D. writes: Is it necessary to keep a container of water on the radiators of a steamheated apartment?

REPLY

Only when the air is so dry the membranes of the nose, throat, and bronchi lose their resistance to colds.

LONG TIME BLONDE

J. E. writes: Would bleaching the hair over a period of years cause any damage to the system?

REPLY

No. Some bleaches may damage the hair but have no effect on the internal organs when used according to directions.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Persons replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Area Streams Subside As Snow Melts

Streams in the Cumberland area were returning to normal yesterday after carrying off most of the snow water from nearby mountains.

The safe runoff of the heavy accumulations of snow removes the major threat of a spring flood in the area.

The North Branch of the Potomac River dropped to 12.1 feet yesterday morning at Wiley Ford, 5.2 feet below the crest reached Thursday afternoon.

The South Branch of the Potomac yesterday dropped three feet from its high reading Thursday.

The best sign that the flood threat was ended came yesterday as gates of the Savage River Dam were reopened after a classic demonstration of the value of the big reservoir for flood control.

As the North Branch of the Potomac began to approach flood stage Wednesday, the gates of the dam were closed to relieve pressure on the stream by impounding the snow water on the 105-square-mile water shed.

Gates were opened as the level of the dam rose to within 23 feet of the spillway. The level stood at 35 feet Thursday and at 80 feet Wednesday, when impoundment began.

Court Probates McKalvey Will

The will of James McKalvey, who was the operator of the Southern Bar on North Mechanic Street at the time of his death March 21, was probated yesterday in Allegany County Orphans Court.

All of his estate was bequeathed to Thomas Beck and Madeline Beck, his wife, under terms of the will which was dated February 24, 1958. The Becks renounced their right to serve as executors of the estate. Thomas N. Berry, local attorney, qualified as administrator c.t.a. of the estate under a $500 bond.

Annual Holy Name Convention Sunday

Approximately 50 members of the Western Maryland Section of the Holy Name Society are expected to attend the 46th annual Holy Name Convention tomorrow in Baltimore.

The local section will serve as host for the meeting and Francis L. Werner, president, is serving as general chairman.

The keynote address at the convention will be delivered by Rev. Francis Montgomery, pastor of St. Michael's Catholic Church, Frostburg, who also is spiritual director of the local unit.

Phillips' Oilers, Ohio State Win

DENVER (UPI)—Ohio State's collegiate champions staved off the NCAA college all-stars in the second half for an 89-79 victory and the Phillips Oilers trounced the Armed Forces all-stars, 88-74, in consolation games Friday afternoon in the U. S. Olympic basketball trials at Denver.

In the championship semifinals Friday night, the NCAA University all-stars with four all-Americans in the lineup, met the Akron Wingfoots and the Peoria Cats played the NAIA college all-stars. Ohio State and Phillips battle Saturday afternoon for fifth place with NCAA college all-stars meeting the Armed Forces team for seventh place.

Metropolitan A.M.E. Sanctuary Redecorated

The congregation of Metropolitan A.M.E. Church will use its newly redecorated sanctuary for the first time at services tomorrow.

Rev. Charles E. Walden Sr., pastor, said a complete redecoration and repainting project was completed with funds raised by the Go-Getters Club.

The Go-Getters are a group of young women, many of them not members of the church, who have sponsored various fund-raising events for the church. Rev. Mr. Walden said.

Mrs. Harry Simpson concluded the study of "Luke's Portrait of Christ." The invocation was given by Mrs. M. D. Specht.

The luncheon committee consisted of Mrs. Malcolm, Mrs. Edward O'Neal and Mrs. Bruce Smith. Seventeen members attended.

County Board Disagrees On Insurance Bill

Another "hassle" developed yesterday at the Allegany County Board of Commissioners meeting concerning insurance.

When a bill for special insurance covering the county tax collector's office in cases of robbery or safe-cracking was presented by Commissioner John T. Mason the board president, John J. Rowan said he would not sign it.

Mason said "I will not be responsible if there is a theft down there." The board meets on the second floor while the tax office is on the first floor.

The insurance coverage expired yesterday and Mason wanted it renewed. The James Beacham insurance firm had the insurance and a renewal was asked.

Commissioner Rowan said the matter should have been discussed last week and not put before the board at the last moment.

Commissioner William A. Wilson made a motion the insurance be placed with the Metzger and Holben firm of Frostburg. No second was made and the board will probably consider the insurance matter at next Tuesday's meeting.

U.S. Chamber Delegates Named

Henry W. Price, national councillor, and Robert C. Petersen, manager, will be included in the official delegation of the Cumberland Chamber at the annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States in Washington May 1-4.

In addition to official delegates, a number of members plan to attend one or more sessions.

Among the speakers will be Sen. Barry Goldwater, (Ariz.) who will discuss "What's Next in Labor Law"; Maurice H. Stans, director of the Bureau of the Budget, speaking on the impact on the economy of the budget surplus; Rep. Bruce Alger (Texas) on "Maintaining a Stable Dollar"; Allan Kline, former head of the American Farm Bureau Federation, on farm problems versus politics; Doris Fleece, Washington news columnist, and Charles H. Percy, President of Bell & Howell.

Also surviving are two brothers and a sister, John and David and Christine Stahl, all at home, and maternal grandparents, Mrs. Faye Jewell, Ridgeley, and Harold Jewell, Cresaptown.

Boswell, Pa., Group To Attend Rally

Rev. Carl Rentchler, director of the High School Evangelism Fellowship in the Johnstown, Pa., area, will speak at the Tri-State Youth for Christ rally tonight.

A delegation from Boswell, Pa., will be represented in the triple Bible quiz with the Alumni vs. High-scorers vs. Boswell. Special music will be presented by the YFC ladies' trio and the YFC teen trio.

The rally, conducted in the Salvation Army Citadel, 115 North Mechanic Street, will begin at 7:45 p. m.

Sylvan Retreat Nurse Hired

Edith Hutcheson was employed yesterday by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners as a temporary practical nurse for duty at Sylvan Retreat.

Earl D. Gram, superintendent of the County Infirmary, requested the board to employ a registered nurse for the institution. He said Mrs. Ella B. Smith retired Thursday after being employed some time at the Infirmary as a registered nurse.

The board instructed James G. Stevenson, board clerk, to ask the Civil Service Board to conduct an examination for a replacement.

Name Is Changed

The Boys' Forestry Camp at New Germany will be officially known as Boys' Forestry Camp-Meadow Mountain, on July 1, according to the current newsletter of the State Department of Planning.

Equity Suit Filed

Theodore R. Sutherland yesterday filed an equity suit in Allegany County Circuit Court against Lillian E. Sutherland.

Mt. Royal PTA To Elect Officers

Gorman E. Getty was nominated for president of the Mt. Royal School Parent-Teacher Association Thursday at the meeting in the school.

Others nominated for the election scheduled at the next meeting were Milton Gerson, first vice president; William L. Wilson, second vice president; Mrs. Earl Raupach, third vice president; Mrs. Paul Castelle, secretary, and Mrs. Jack Wright, treasurer.

The program was presented by Cub Pack 20 sponsored by the PTA and concerned a typical pack meeting.

Rescue Truck Authorized

Approval was given by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday for the purchase of a surplus panel truck to be used by the Bedford Road Volunteer Fire Company rescue team.

William G. Barger, director of the county Civil Defense organization, made the request on behalf of the fire company. He said the truck would be equipped with rescue equipment.

The program was started last year and 15 members of the Bedford Road Fire Company completed a 42-hour training course under the University of Maryland Fire Extension Service program.

The Bedford Road group will be part of the Allegany County survival plan which is under the jurisdiction of the Civil Defense organization.

The truck can be obtained under the federal surplus property program for $119.50.

Board Hears Road Problems

Two requests were received by the Allegany Board of Commissioners yesterday for alleviation of road problems.

Lane Campbell and John Bolinger of Eckhart appeared to ask that something be done about the rutted and boggy condition of a road leading off Washington Hollow Road. Commissioner John J. Rowan said he would inspect the area with Harry Skelly, roads supervisor.

A letter from Mr. and Mrs. Russell Arthur of the Westernport section stated trucks from a strip mining operation were causing mud to be thrown onto their property and it poses a health hazard. "The matter was referred to Skelly.

Engineer's Car Is In Radio Network

A two-way radio, tuned to the Cumberland Police Department frequency, has been placed in the official car used by City Engineer C. R. Nuzum.

The communications equipment was installed primarily for use during emergencies, as Mr. Nuzum serves as chairman of the Cumberland area's flood emergency plan.

It would permit him to keep in contact, through the Police Department, with crews stationed at various parts of the flood protection works, and to coordinate activities of all of the helpers who would be on hand during a flood alert.

In World War II members of more than 30 individual religious bodies were listed as conscientious objectors.

Local Sears Store Gets New Manager

Appointment of Samuel Moses, as manager of the Sears, Roebuck and Co. store in Cumberland, was announced yesterday by R. H. Glennon in charge of Sears North Central Zone.

Moses succeeds C. W. Seasholtz who is being transferred to Steubenville, Ohio, as manager there.

A 12-year veteran with Sears, Moses previously was assistant manager in Mansfield, Ohio. He joined the company as a trainee and subsequently was promoted to customer service manager and various assistant manager posts.

Moses is a native of Donora, Pa., attended school there and is a graduate of The University of Pittsburgh. While in service with the Army Air Force during World War II he served in the Pacific theatre of operations.

A member of Kiwanis, Moses was also active in the Chamber of Commerce and University Club in Mansfield.

He is married to the former Laura McClure of Finleyville, Pa., and the couple have three sons, Douglas, 11, David, 7 and Daniel, 5.

County Board Is Thanked

Five letters of thanks were received yesterday by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners, four from pupils of Northeast Elementary School on Valley Road and one from a group of residents in LaVale.

The pupils informed the board they were pleased with the adoption of the county library plan.

The LaVale residents, 20 in number, thanked the board and Harry Skelly, roads supervisor, for the work of the County Roads Department for the manner in which Klosterman Avenue and Georges Creek Boulevard were cindered and plowed during the heavy snows recently.

The letter stated: "We realize that too many times we complain when certain conditions or matters do not suit us, and that people in general do not comment when good or exceptional work is done."

Bi-County Firemen Will Meet Sunday

The executive committee of the Allegany-Garrett Counties Volunteer Firemen's Association will meet at 2 p. m. Sunday at Kitzmiller.

Tickets for the smoker to be held at Clarysville on Saturday, April 23, will be distributed prior to the meeting.

The training committee with George F. Comp Jr. of Deer Park and Cormwell C. Zembower will meet at 1 p. m. Sunday at Kitzmiller. William Smith Jr. of Luke will preside at the Sunday meeting.

Clean Up Campaign Will Be Discussed

The City Board of Health will meet Monday at 1:30 p. m. in the office of Mayor J. Edwin Keech.

Topics will include plans for a spring cleanup campaign, hygiene of housing, and parking facilities for the Allegany County Health Department.

Jury Convicts

son, testified about the events on that September night and the subsequent investigation. Called in rapid order after the luncheon recess were John Stankan, operator of the State Line Inn; Cover, Francis Davis, who saw Mrs. Johnson get into Cover's car on Virginia Avenue and observed Gray following Cover's car out Frederick Street; City Police Officer James Brown, State Trooper John McFarland, Carl E. Robinette, an employee of the Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company; State Police Sgt. William F. Baker and County Investigator Edwin R. Lilya.

Found Broken Gun Mr. Robinette testified that he found a broken shotgun in the 1300 block Bedford Street shortly after the Cover robbery. A recoil pad and several pieces of wood found at the scene of the robbery fitted into the broken shotgun.

Mrs. Johnson had testified that the gun had been tossed out of Gray's car while they were driving in Bedford Street.

After the state rested its case at 2:12 p. m., defense attorneys made an unsuccessful motion for a directed verdict for the defendant. The defense offered no evidence in its behalf. All four attorneys participated in the closing argument, which took some 42 minutes.

Mr. Getty and Mr. Mason argued that the testimony of Mrs. Johnson, an accomplice, was substantiated by the testimony of the eight other witnesses. Defense attorneys argued that none of the testimony actually placed Gray at the scene. They said that neither Mrs. Johnson nor Cover was sure that Gray participated in the robbery.

Gray was returned to the State Penitentiary last night, accompanied by the guard who brought him from Baltimore. He already has served more than 18 months of his sentence and his weight has dropped some 60 pounds, to 140.

SUPPORTS SEAL DRIVE—Cumberland Mayor J. Edwin Keech is a staunch supporter of the work of the Allegany County League For Crippled Children and to prove it he purchases his Easter Seals from George A. Schwarzenbach, left, campaign chairman for the 1960 Seal Sale. The mayor, who said he has been able to observe activities at the League in City Hall Plaza, has been impressed by the work for handicapped children and adults and the dedication of the League staff to its duties. "They do a magnificent job and have my support 100 per cent." The current Seal Sale will end Easter Sunday, April 17. As of yesterday, proceeds amounted to over $4,900. Last years total was $9,518.

GREENWICH VILLAGE: WHERE ART STILL FLOURISHES AND THE BEATNIK NOW THRIVES

Washington Square, playground of the Village. The impressive Washington Arch, in back, is where Fifth Avenue begins. Looming high over arch is an apartment building. At right is "Old Row," once the elegant homes of the rich.

To the serious writer and artist, New York's Greenwich Village means a congenial place to write and paint; to the bohemian, a place to have fun; to the bearded beatnik, a place to spout; to the banker in a swank apartment and the laborer in a cold water flat, a place to call home. It's a very colorful community.

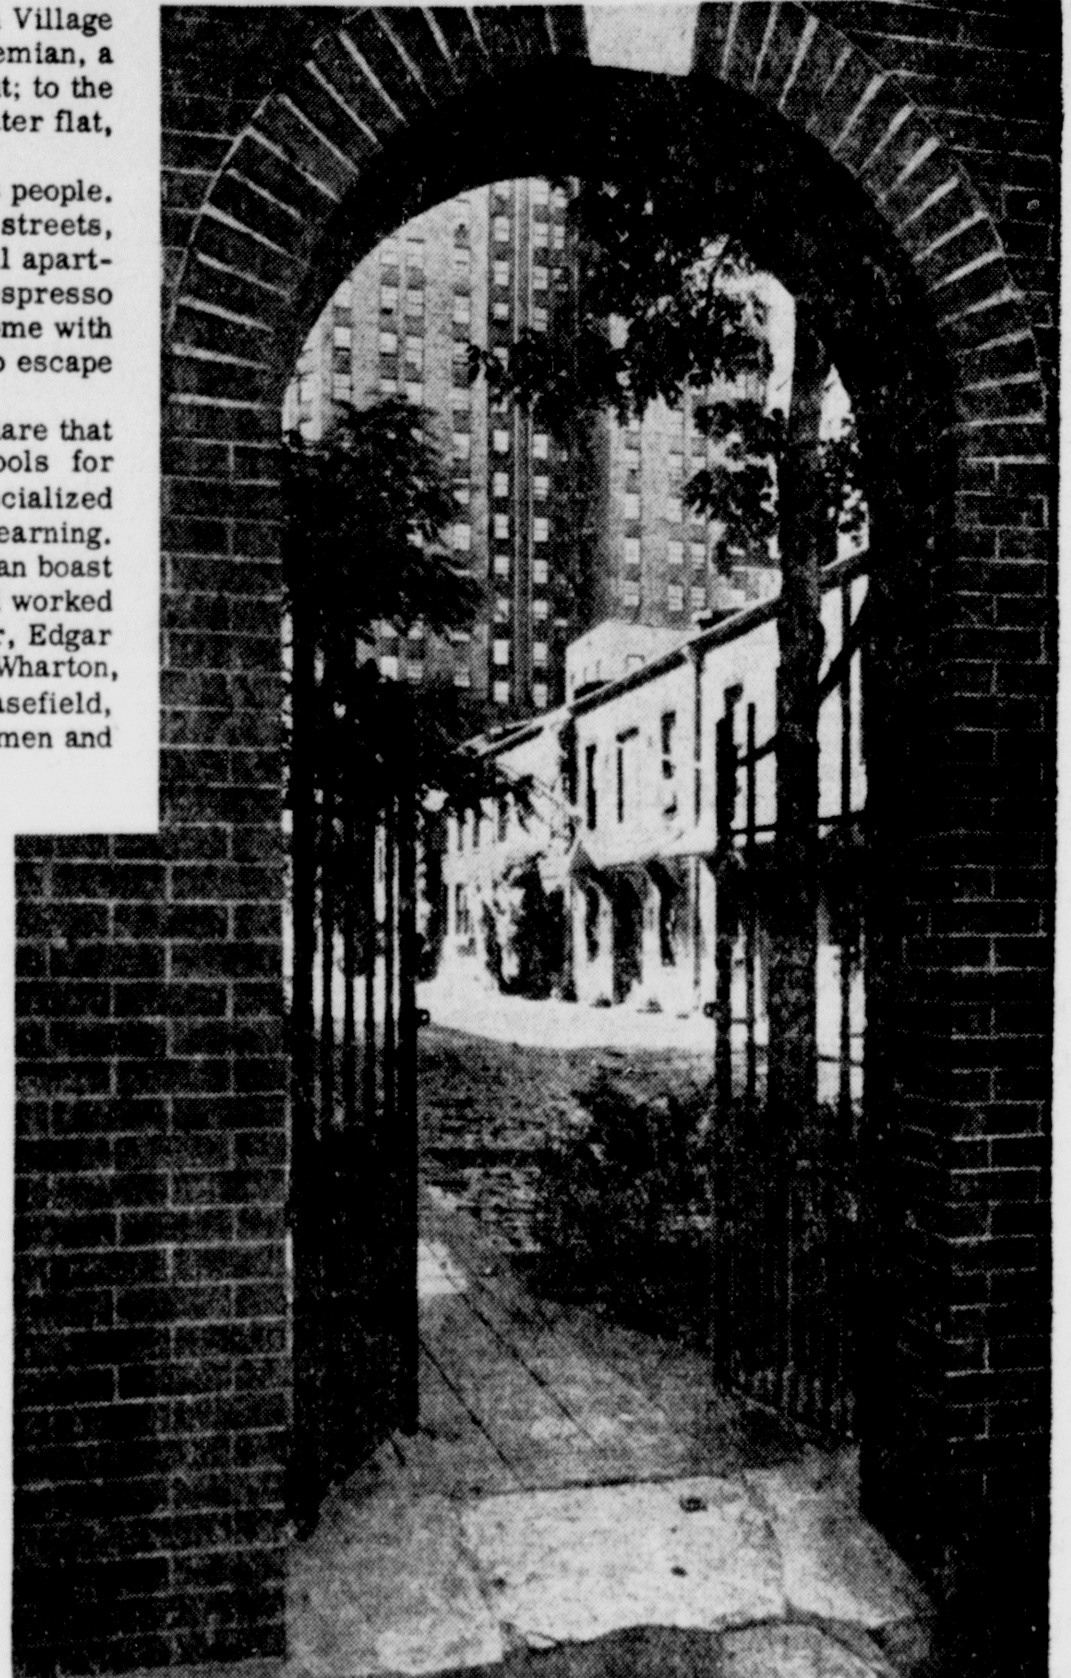

Buildings in the Village are of as many varieties as its people. Standing side by side, along the many narrow and few wide streets, or overlooking Washington and Sheridan Squares, are new tall apartment buildings, basement bistros, converted stables, espresso cafes, and modest red brick and white frame houses, some with greenery yards, relics of another age that have managed to escape the wrecker's axe.

Education and religion also thrive in the 16-block square that constitutes the Village. There are more than a dozen schools for children here, 48 churches and synagogues, several specialized colleges and three distinguished institutions of higher learning.

Greenwich Village, once the heart of Old New York, can boast of a glorious past. Illustrious men and women have lived and worked there, such men and women as James Fenimore Cooper, Edgar Allen Poe, Walt Whitman, O. Henry, Ida M. Tarbell, Edith Wharton, Edna St. Vincent Millay, Samuel F. B. Morse, John Masefield, Eugene O'Neill, and a host of others. Many well-known men and women of the arts and letters live there today.

A poet practices his lines outside the coffee house where each night he reads his poetry to the guests.

Through the archway, a view of Washington Mews, a private street in the Village, whose homes and studios had once been stables and converted over.

A Village art shop is never too small to display its wares. This is the "House of Bratta."

Potbellied stove warms studio in which artist Michael Donohue works. He's a former fire lieutenant.

Paintings hang on nearly every wall and fence during the outdoor exhibit. This artist paints while he waits for customers.

A romantic couple takes a daytime stroll.

Chess can be as exciting as a poetry reading for these three patrons of a coffee house.

Familiar faces on the Village green: the strumming guitarist and the grizzled old chess player.

Jury Convicts Gray Again Of Robbery

Deliberates Only About 30 Minutes

Raymond John Anthony Gray, 36-year-old former local man who lived more recently in Baltimore, was found guilty in Allegany County Circuit Court yesterday afternoon for the third time of armed robbery of William J. Cover, 1404 Virginia Avenue, on Shades Lane on September 11, 1958.

A jury of 11 men and one woman deliberated only about 30 minutes before returning a guilty verdict just before 4 p. m. Joseph G. Wenrich, Cresaptown, was foreman of the jury which included nine members of the regular panel of 25. The other regular jurors included John E. Foote, Harvey H. Hill, Ernest Taschenberg, Mrs. Mary A. Gunning, Oscar A. Lepley, Benjamin W. O'Rourke, Clarence V. Burns and Arthur F. Friedland. The jury was completed with three talesmen summoned into court off the street. They were Norman C. Weakley, Harry Stewart and John E. Green.

Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris immediately sentenced Gray to a maximum sentence of 10 years in the Maryland Penitentiary. Twice before Judge Harris had imposed the same 10-year term but both times the Maryland Court of Appeals has reversed the decision and granted Gray a new trial.

Tried First In 1958

Gray was first tried in Allegany County Circuit Court on the robbery charge on October 17, 1958. That was a non-jury trial and Judge Harris found Gray guilty of the first count of robbery and imposed the 10-year sentence. This was reversed by the Court of Appeals.

A second trial, before a jury, was held on May 13, 1959. On that occasion a jury found Gray guilty of armed robbery and not guilty of two lesser counts of receiving stolen goods and assault. That verdict also was set aside by the Court of Appeals.

Gray made a third appearance in Circuit Court on March 8 but collapsed before the trial could get under way. He had undergone a gall bladder operation and appendectomy a few weeks earlier and had not regained his strength.

The following day, Gray was back in court with his court-appointed attorneys, Earl E. Manges and Harold E. Naughton. They pleaded their client guilty to receiving stolen goods but not guilty to armed robbery. Judge Harris at first accepted the plea and again sentenced Gray to 10 years in the penitentiary, but about an hour later recalled the attorneys and rescinded his action.

Judge Harris recalled that the jury last May had found Gray not guilty of receiving stolen goods. Having once been acquitted on that count, Gray could not plead guilty. It would constitute double jeopardy, the judge observed.

Star Witness

The star witness at yesterday's trial was Mrs. Alma Mabel Johnson of Baltimore, who identified herself as an accomplice of Gray and Howard M. Iser of Cumberland in the robbery of Cover on Shade's Lane in the early morning hours of September 11, 1958.

She said Cover, who had a habit of carrying large sums of money in his pockets, was pointed out to her in a Virginia Avenue restaurant.

Mrs. Johnson said she struck up a conversation with Cover and on her pretense of looking up a girl friend at the State Line Inn on the Bedford Road, Cover agreed to take her to the road house. She said Gray and Iser followed them in Gray's car to the inn.

On the return trip from the inn, Cover cut off onto Shades Lane and stopped the car along that so-called "lovers' lane." It was at this point that Gray and Iser, who had followed her from the inn, came up to the car, smashed the car window and struck Cover with the butt of a single-barreled shotgun and robbed him of about $350.

Drew Prison Term

Mrs. Johnson was convicted with Gray and Iser at the original trial and was sentenced to a term not to exceed 18 months in the Maryland Reformatory for Women.

Iser also drew a 10-year penitentiary sentence after the first trial. He escaped from the Allegany County Jail while awaiting transfer to the penitentiary and later was nabbed in Alabama. He received an additional three years in the penitentiary on that charge.

Eight other witnesses called by State's Attorney James S. Getty and his assistant, Donald W. Ma-

Minister Attends Alcoholism Institute

Otis L. Parish, pastor of the Cumberland Seventh-day Adventist Church, returned this week from Parkersburg, W. Va., where he attended a ministerial institute on alcoholism sponsored by the International Commission for the Prevention of Alcoholism.

Scientific information, statistics, and other vital information for pastors was given by the visiting lecturers as an aid in giving help to alcoholics and near-alcoholics. It was the first session of its kind ever held in the state of West Virginia.

ABL-Union Meeting Set Wednesday

Local 261 Votes Strike Authorization

Members of Local 261, International Chemical Workers Union, yesterday authorized their negotiators to call a strike at Allegany Ballistics Laboratory here an' agreed, at the request of the Conciliation Service, to a joint negotiating session next Wednesday.

James D. Smith, president, said last night that at two membership meetings yesterday, Local 261, ICWW, authorized the negotiating committee by a 96 per cent secret ballot vote, to call a strike at Allegany Ballistics in order to secure a satisfactory agreement.

He said 554 members cast ballots at meetings held at 1 and 7:30 p.m. in the Cresaptown Fire Hall.

Mr. Smith reported that contrary to earlier news reports attributed to a spokesman for the union but denied by Local 261 officials, "the company did not submit new proposals to the committee."

"At the request of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service," he said, "the parties have agreed to meet Wednesday, April 6, in an effort to resolve the issues."

James Holden, federal conciliator, has been assigned to the dispute.

Local 261 represents some 700 hourly-paid workers at ABL, which is operated by Hercules Powder Company for the Navy Bureau of Weapons.

Concert Group To Plan Drive For Members

More than 100 workers, officers and area leaders will gather at Clarysville Inn tomorrow at a 4 p. m. dinner-meeting to open the second annual membership drive of the Tri-State Community Concert Association.

Everybody who will take part in the membership solicitation is invited to this dinner-meeting at which material will be distributed and available attractions for next season will be described by a representative from Community Concerts, Inc., New York.

Dr. Frank E. Gamble, head of music instruction in Allegany County public schools, will be the only speaker aside from instructions to be given by Mrs. R. Finley Thompson, membership chairman; Peter Lukas, association president, and Maurice Zermatt, from the New York office of Community Concerts. Harold D. Barber is chairman of the industry section of the membership drive.

A headquarters office will be open all next week at 7 North Liberty Street, where team captains and others will report; information and supplies will be dispensed, and individuals may purchase memberships direct.

This year's membership of 1,130 made possible such attractions as the Manhattan Concert Orchestra; the American Ballet of Robert Joffrey; Mary McMurray, soprano, and Alec Templeton, pianist.

Traveling Registrars Add 12 New Voters

Some 12 prospective new voters were added as a result of registration activity yesterday at the fire halls on Bedford Road and Baltimore Pike.

Francis P. Thompson, Democrat, and Charles G. Llewellyn, Republican, signed up four yesterday afternoon at the Bedford Road Fire Hall, two Democrats and two Republicans. They were a little busier last night at the Baltimore Pike Fire Hall, where seven Democrats and one Republican were added.

John R. Kelly, Democrat registrar and chief clerk of the County Board of Election Supervisors, said last night that next week the board's office in the Court House basement will be open from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. Monday through Friday and from 9 a.m. until noon on Saturday. April 16 is the registration deadline before the May 17 primary.

Monday the traveling substitute registrars will sit from 10 a.m. until 1 p.m. at the Allegany Ballistics Laboratory and from 2 until 5 p.m. at Armstrong's store in Rawlings.

ABL Chalks Up Two Successes In One Day

Altair Rockets Used In Two Nasa Launch

Allegany Ballistics Laboratory rockets figured in two successful launches yesterday at Wallops Island, Va., and at Cape Canaveral, Fla.

Last night an ABL-built X-248 Altair rocket helped fire a 100-foot balloon 200 miles into the sky over Wallops Island.

Yesterday morning, an ABL Altair had pushed a "weather watch" satellite into orbit from Cape Canaveral.

Both shots were launched by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Allegany Ballistics Laboratory, which is operated by Hercules Powder Company for the Navy Bureau of Weapons, issued this statement after last night's successful Wallops Island launch:

"The 'Shotput' vehicle fired successfully from Wallops Island, Va., utilized a two-stage launching vehicle; both stages solid-propellant rockets.

Same Rocket Used

The first stage was a modified Sergeant rocket with two Recruit rockets attached. The second stage utilized the high-performance ABL X-248 Altair rocket which consists of a glass filament-reinforced plastic case containing a cast double-base solid propellant system.

"This second stage is identical to the third-stage rocket which boosted the Tiro into near-perfect orbit earlier yesterday. The success was the 13th for the ABL-designed motor and was the fourth to be used in Shotput.

"The primary objective of last night's test was to check inflation and operation of a 100-foot-diameter plastic sphere. This type sphere will be used later in the year, as a radio signal reflecting satellite."

At Cape Canaveral yesterday the objective was to put into orbit a satellite which will take pictures of the earth's cloud cover and will relay the televised pictures to ground stations on command from ground-based transmitters.

Engineer At Cape

George H. Moody, Cumberland native who is supervisor of the advanced rocket development group at ABL, was at Cape Canaveral to help assemble the three-stage launching vehicle.

ABL's third-stage rocket was designed to be burned under the vacuum conditions that exist at high altitudes, officials at the installation near Pinto said yesterday.

The company described the X-248 as the "most advanced solid propellant motor available for high altitude research."

It uses a Hercules-developed glass-plastic Spiralloy case that is lighter than metal, but just as strong. The result of 10 years of research, the lightweight case has enabled rocket designers to put more "push per pound" into the finished rocket engine.

David Miller, Realtor, Dies

David Miller, a real estate and insurance salesman here for 60 years, died yesterday in Upper Marlboro, where he had resided the past three years.

Mr. Miller, who was 86, formerly resided here on Piedmont Avenue.

He was a former partner in the D. P. Miller Company until his retirement. While in Cumberland Mr. Miller was a member of BPO Elks and Centre Street Methodist Church.

Surviving are his widow, Etta (Duvall) Miller and several nieces and nephews.

Services and burial will be conducted in Upper Marlboro.

Ellerslie Factory Burns

Flames and smoke billow from the Harold's Kitchen and Furniture plant at Ellerslie, which was almost entirely destroyed by fire early yesterday afternoon. Harold M. Waingold, the operator of the plant, estimated the loss at $100,000. The cause of the fire, which also threatened nearby houses, is unknown. Ten volunteer fire companies fought the fire, but were able to save only a small part of the building. No one was injured in the fire, but some firemen were narrowly missed by a falling wall.

Kennedy Plans Three-Day Tour Of Maryland

Local Woman Is On State Staff

BALTIMORE (AP)—Sen. John F. Kennedy may spend three days touring Maryland in his bid for the Democratic presidential nomination, his State campaign coordinator said Friday.

Rep. Torbet H. MacDonald (D-Mass.), the Maryland coordinator, said May 11-13 were being considered as "good dates" but were not definite.

He said the tentative plan calls for Kennedy trips to the Eastern Shore, Western and Southern Maryland, as well as Baltimore City.

Miss Zaks On Staff

"We hope he'll be able to cover as many counties as possible," MacDonald said, "but we haven't talked with the senator yet about the exact plans."

MacDonald said Kennedy would begin campaigning for the May 10 West Virginia primary shortly after the April 5 Wisconsin primary. The Maryland primary is May 17.

After a couple of false starts, the Massachusetts senator's Maryland headquarters opened Thursday in Baltimore with Miss Florence Zaks of Cumberland as secretary.

The false starts resulted indirectly from Kennedy's support among Maryland Democratic factions, virtually all of which have agreed to stay on.

Attempts to find a headquarters boss acceptable to all leading factions were abandoned after two prospects for the post of headquarters executive secretary were approached and each was withdrawn or rejected to avoid factional wrangles.

William D. Macmillan, Baltimore attorney and chairman of the Maryland Kennedy-for-president campaign, was reportedly so upset by the squabbling that he spoke of resigning. Macmillan, however, agreed to stay on.

Local Canal Land To Be 'Swapped'

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Interior Committee Friday approved a bill authorizing the purchase of additional land for the Harpers Ferry National Monument in West Virginia.

The bill would permit buying the old Storer College site and buildings and acquisition of the site of John Brown's fort and the old Federal Arsenal through an exchange of lands.

The fort and arsenal site would be acquired by swapping federally owned park lands of about equal value near Cumberland, Md. This Maryland land is described in the bill as no longer needed by the government.

Conrad L. Wirth, director of the National Park Service, said the land at Cumberland is near the upper end of the Chesapeake & Ohio Canal. He said the small tract is largely in a commercial area and has never been developed for park purposes. The Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, he added, has expressed interest in obtaining this land.

The B & O owns some of the land being sought for an addition to the monument.

The secretary of interior would be authorized to pay a fair market value for the Storer College property. In addition, he would be able to buy up to seven more acres of privately owned lands to consolidate federal holdings in that section of the monument.

The Interior Department said West Virginia has given about 469 acres for the monument, and that Maryland is in the process of acquiring about 800 acres to contribute.

The Storer College site is on high ground above the town of Harpers Ferry. The college was operated for Negroes from shortly after the close of the Civil War until a few years ago.

The bill would authorize an appropriation of $300,000.

Committee To Meet

The publicity committee of the Cumberland Sports Carnival will meet today at 3 p.m. in the Chamber of Commerce office.

Parades, Show Feature Maple Festival Today

Meyersdale Host To Many Visitors

Two big programs and a repeat performance of the talent contest by the Maple Queen and her princesses will highlight today's activities at the Somerset County Maple Festival which opened yesterday. The 13th annual Maple Festival banquet opened festivities last night.

Beginning at 12:30 p. m. today, a mummies, kiddies, pet and hobby parade, well received last year, will be featured.

At 2 p. m. ten girls who represent high schools in Somerset County will present their talent number in the Meyersdale Elementary building. These talent numbers were present in Cochran Junior High School, Johnstown on February 24 when the Maple Queen of 1960 was chosen.

The second parade is scheduled for 6:30 p. m. This is the major revue and color attraction to honor the Maple Queen. Community bands, high school bands, drum and bugle corps, Scout units, floats, marching units, fire departments and other units will participate.

Cash prizes are to be distributed for winners in both parades.

The festival parade will form on Beachley Street on the south side and march north over Center Street to Broadway. The kiddies parade will march from Broadway south on Center to Monument Square. Judges for both parades will be located at Main and Center streets.

For the talent show, master of ceremonies will be Gary Nedrow, a Meyersdale Joint High School senior who won the Somerset County "Voice of Democracy" contest and placed second in state competition. Mrs. Viola St. Clair is in charge of a committee arranging the talent show.

A piano solo, "Deep Purple," will be played by the Maple Queen, Mary Katherine McClure, a Salisbury-Elk Lick Joint High School senior.

Maids of honor to the Queen and runners-up in the contest are Bonnie Lee Hancher, Shade-Central City Joint High School and Brenda Lee Fisher, Turkeyfoot Valley Area High School.

License Tag Sale Continues Heavy

Despite the arrival of the deadline for use of old Maryland automobile license tags at midnight Thursday, Allegany County Tax Collector William B. Orndorff and his assistants were still busy selling tags yesterday.

Some 459 sets of tags were sold to "grounded" motorists who had to walk or travel by bus or cab to the Court House yesterday.

Scottish Rite Masons To Confer Degrees

A reunion dinner and the conferring of two degrees will be conducted by the Cumberland Consistory of Scottish Rite Masons Monday at the Masonic Temple.

The dinner will be served at 6:15 p.m. The 31st degree will be conferred at 4:30 p.m. and the 32d degree at 7:45 p.m. Dr. William T. Fridinger will preside at the 31st degree and Arthur B. Gibson will preside at the 32d, with Dr. J. Russell Cook, Julius E. Schindler, Ralph R. Webster, Dr. Albert C. Cook and William Torkington assisting.

Fire Destroys Furniture Mill In Ellerslie

Owner Estimates $100,000 Damage

A fire of undetermined origin early yesterday afternoon quickly destroyed the manufacturing plant of Harold's Kitchen and Furniture Company, Inc. at Ellerslie, causing an estimated $100,000 in damage.

Approximately 200 volunteer firemen and 17 pieces of equipment from 10 fire companies responded to the call, but were unable to control the blaze which leveled all but a small portion of the big brick building.

Harold M. Waingold, 1208 Bedford Road, president of the company, discovered the fire when he returned to the building from outside. Mrs. Alma Connor, secretary of the firm, tried to report the fire by telephone but the blaze had disrupted phone service.

Runs To Fire Hall

Mr. Waingold said he then ran several hundred yards to the Ellerslie Fire Company and founded the fire siren. When he returned to the office end of the plant, he said, the fire had engulfed the office section and he was unable to get inside to save any books or records. Mrs. Connor also lost her wallet containing $50 and other personal belongings which were in her desk.

The fire, which apparently started in the middle section of the 400-foot building, soon spread throughout the structure, causing all but north section to collapse. Cause of the fire is still unknown.

Firemen reported that a group of fire fighters from LaVale entered the north end of the plant where the mill section is located, and were able to keep that part of the structure from being leveled by flames.

The fire was reported at 12:30 p.m. and within an hour the fire had destroyed the building. Housed within the plant, which produces kitchen and bathroom cabinets, were an office and showroom, shipping area, paint and formica rooms, an assembly line and the mill section.

Houses Threatened

Two houses about 200 feet from the plant were endangered by the intense heat and firemen wetted down the two buildings to protect them from sparks.

One building, a large frame house with four apartments, had some damage from water in one of the apartments. This apartment was rented by Jesse J. Clites, who had only recently moved his furniture into the building. Others residing in the house were Mrs. Bessie Strock, Miss Delores Albright, Mrs. Grace Shroyer, Mrs. Faye Mowery and Mrs. Paul Logue.

Some of the women in the apartment house managed to get most of the furniture from their apartments in case the fire spread. The other home near the plant is a small bungalow occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Sturtz.

Firemen from the 10 companies strung their hoses several hundred feet to obtain water from two nearby small streams.

Firemen Escape Injury

No one was injured, but several members of Corriganville Company narrowly escaped injury when a wall of the building collapsed while they were manning a hose.

Many of the firemen had left their jobs to help fight the blaze and some were still attired in business suits and white shirts.

Fire companies which battled the blaze were Mt. Savage, Clarysville, Bowling Green, Ellerslie, Cresaptown, Bedford Road, Corriganville, LaVale, Hyndman and Bowman's Addition.

Women Help Out

The plant employs 26 men, Mr. Waingold said. He said the employees were eating lunch when the fire started, and managed to save only a small amount of lumber and several pieces of machinery.

Several women from Ellerslie filled buckets with water and passed among the firemen, offering them drinks. Later coffee was served to the firemen by several of the women who reside nearby.

Traffic on Route 35 was heavy after the blaze started and Troopers Joseph Smith and George Wachter of the State Police blocked the flow of cars to the scene of the fire.

False Alarm Answered

East Side Fire Company answered a false alarm on Shawnee Avenue yesterday at 3:51 p. m. Firemen said the person who turned in the mischievous alarm gave the wrong address.

Births

Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Mullaney, 1610 Doolittle Road, Baltimore, announce the birth of a son yesterday morning at the Hospital for the Women of Maryland, Baltimore. Both parents are former residents of Cumberland. The maternal grandmother is Mrs. Almeta Davis, 22 Virginia Avenue.

Memorial Hospital

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd D. Duckworth, Cresaptown, a daughter yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde E. Campbell, Hyndman, Pa., a son yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene L. Reinhart, RFD 5, a son yesterday.
